By HAL BOYLE
With American Troops in Germany, Oct. 29 (Delayed) (AP)—It was dark and the two soldiers were sleepy.

Pfc. Otto Kaiser of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Pvt. Thomas A. Gill of Turtle Creek, Pa., dug a foxhole and covered the floor with straw. They fell asleep.

They awoke a few hours later in four inches of water. Drowsily they baled it out and lay down to sleep again. They awoke once more to find water again in their foxhole, but they were too tired to get up. By dawn they were practically floating around. They found they had dug their foxhole on the site of a spring.

Instead of abandoning it, these resourceful troopers dug a channel to let the water escape, hollowed out a basin in which to wash themselves, built themselves a stove and advertised throughout the division: "The only foxhole with hot and cold running water."

"Just Initials"
German machinegun bullets whistling past his bulldozer did not bother T-5 Francis Goetz of Green Bay, Wis.

"They won't hit you unless they've got your name on 'em," he called lightly to another soldier.

Whang! A Nazi bullet spanked against the steel crossbar, three inches above his head. Goetz dove into a foxhole a second later, abandoning his battle philosophy.

"No name—just initials," he muttered.

"Milking Machine"
Pfc. Leslie T. Kerr, Akron, Ohio, heard something moving in the bushes and warned the assistant squad leader that on the other side of the stone fence he had glimpsed a Jerry soldier, "gun and all."

It was near Brest. The assistant squad leader sneaked carefully to take a look and then stomped back in disgust.

"That," he announced, "is the first German I've ever seen with four legs, two horns, a tail and a milking machine."

G-I Service
Capt. John C. Cole, Louisville, Ky., jokingly told his supply sergeant, Tommy Powers of Worcester, Mass.:

"If you don't get me a canteen cup pretty soon, I'm going to bust you lower than a snake's belly."

At the next chow lineup Capt. Cole, who is an officer in an armored division, found 18 cups in his barracks bag.

"One Eye On Em"
When they get around to picking "the coolest man in the Army," an Infantry Division will have a good nominee in Pfc. William Murphy of Greensboro, N. C.

His outfit was subjected to a terrific artillery battering during a fight with three elite Nazi regiments. His buddies looked out of their foxholes, and there was Murphy, sitting calmly by a tree—reading a comics book.

Later his company moved up into the woods and sniper bullets began zinging past.

"Snipers. Murphy—snipers!" shouted his buddies, keeping for their foxholes.

"Oh," drawled Murphy lazily. "I got one eye on 'em."

"Pants Abaze"
If only Staff Sgt. Oliver Garner could have stopped laughing he would have had two more Nazis.

His armored division tank, "I Don't Wanna," engaged a German 20 mm. ack-ack gun dug in along the roadside, and destroyed it with a direct hit.

Two Jerry survivors sprinted for the tall timber. Garner drew a bead on them with his rifle, and then began laughing so hard he couldn't aim.

CHAMBER WILL ELECT NOV. 28

A nominating committee of seven members was named at the November meeting of the board of directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce Monday evening to propose names to be voted upon by the membership at the next dinner meeting, Tuesday, November 28.

The committee will nominate men to fill three positions on the board of directors caused by the expirations of the current terms of Edmund W. Thomas, Dr. J. Walter Coleman and Roy P. Funkhouser.

At the membership meeting when the election will be held there will be an opportunity for additional nominations from the floor.

The committee includes R. W. Wentz, George R. Martin, J. R. Kadel, Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, Dr. R. D. Wickham, Glenn L. Bream and Herbert Raymond.

Members of the Chamber will be guests of the organization at the dinner meeting November 28.

Directors present for Monday's meeting in the Chamber offices in the Kadel building included: President Mares Sherman, Ralph J. Oyster, Edmund W. Thomas, Henry Garvin and Arthur E. Hutchinson.

Miss Julia Peters and Miss Virginia Myers were visitors in Harrisburg Sunday.

LLOYD WISLER RESIGNS FROM POLICE FORCE

Lloyd E. Wisler, member of the borough police department for the last eight years, a part of which time he served as chief, presented his resignation Monday evening to the borough council, effective November 15.

Officer Wisler told The Gettysburg Times that he has accepted a position with a baking concern at his former home, Shenandoah, Pa., and expects to move to that community with his family about a week after he ends his police duties.

Without any applicants for the police position, council asked Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer how soon the position must be filled and that official replied that he "might be able to worry along to the end of the month" without a replacement. He pointed out that if the custom of putting on an extra officer before Christmas is followed this year, an additional officer must be employed.

York Street "Wobbly"
Reporting that openings made in York street by the Gettysburg Gas company have been patched temporarily for the winter, Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winsbrenner told council the south side of the street is "shot" and "wobbly" and may soon require a new base as a result of the damage done by the utility company. Several councilmen echoed his opinion. The street is maintained by the state.

The Gas company had asked free or reduced rate digging permits from council before the work was started on a big scale in the spring. Council insisted on cost-of-replacement fees.

The safety committee was directed to make a further study on costs of establishing regulation uniform requirements for members of the borough police force. In the past the council has allowed each officer to buy his own uniform and has given him an annual allowance of $50.

Ask Snow Removal
In reply to an inquiry from the state Department of Highways, council issued a request for the removal of snow from the town streets by the state plows with the suggestion that the plows make an effort to avoid plowing shut the side gutters.

A safety committee meeting was suggested to study complaints aired before council Monday evening about illegal parking on the restricted north side of the first block of West Middle street. Another hazard is caused by parking on the west side of the first block of North (Please Turn to Page 3)

LEGION PLANS NOV. 11 FETE

Plans for an Armistice Day celebration Friday morning at Gettysburg high school, and for the annual banquet Friday evening of the Last Man's club of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion were discussed at a meeting Monday evening at the post home, Baltimore street.

The Legion also voted to donate $25 to the National War Fund and to donate a $25 war bond for use as a prize by the Women's Division of the War Finance committee during the Sixth War Loan Drive. Adjutant Edgar Moser reported an attendance of 80 members.

The Annual Last Man's club banquet will be held Friday evening at 7:15 o'clock at the Battlefield hotel. Prior to the meal, a business meeting will be held and the election of officers will take place. Following group singing the results of the election will be announced.

Officers to Speak
Lt. Col. Willis F. Daniels, judge advocate at the Middletown Air Depot, at Middletown, near Harrisburg, will be the speaker for the evening. Colonel Daniels is a member of post number 27 of the American Legion at Harrisburg.

Carl S. Mencher is the president of the club, and Harry J. Troxell, the secretary, is in charge of arrangements for the dinner. The Last Man's club was organized in Gettysburg November 10, 1939.

Plans for the Armistice Day program at the high school were being completed today and will be announced Wednesday. Lawrence M. Sheads is in charge of the committee of arrangements for that program.

Weather Forecast
Mostly clear and slightly colder tonight; Wednesday some cloudiness and warmer.

Miss Betty Lee Moser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Moser, 67 East Stevens street, and a junior at Gettysburg high school, was recently selected by Co. B, 549th Engineers, as their pin-up girl for October. Company B is stationed somewhere overseas.

Brother Of Local Resident Acting Head Of Texas U.

Dr. T. S. Painter, native of Virginia, now acting president of Texas University, Austin, Texas, is a brother of Mrs. Henry W. A. Hanson, wife of the president of Gettysburg college.

Doctor Painter succeeds Dr. Homer Price Rainey who was removed by the board of regents following a shakeup.

The new acting president is a well known scientist, receiving his Ph.D. degree at Yale where he also served as an instructor. He was awarded the Gerald Elliott Medal in science some time ago.

During the first world war he was a captain in aviation and helped to establish one of the large flying fields in Texas. He was named after his grandfather who attended Gettysburg college in 1837 when he took a course in engineering.

Prior to his appointment as acting president of Texas U. he was Professor of Biology at the same institution.

Japs Match Germans For Brutality; Erase Towns

San Francisco, Nov. 7 (AP)—Emulating the Germans at Lidice, Japanese have wiped out at least two villages of the Netherlands East Indies with virtually their entire populations, headquarters of Netherlands forces in the Far East announced today.

A village near Medan, on Sumatra, was soaked with kerosene and petrol and burned to the ground. Any inhabitants who tried to escape were shot with machine guns.

A village on Java was set afire by incendiary bombs, and machine guns also were turned on those trying to flee.

Other atrocities were described in a document, "Japanese Atrocities in Occupied Netherlands Indies." It listed cases of savage mistreatment of prisoners of war and civilian populations.

Some people were burned alive; some were forced to drink soapy water until they were bloated, and then soldiers

GOOD TURNOUT AT POLLS HERE

Gettysburgians voted at the rate of more than three a minute in the first six hours the four local polling places were open today, a survey by The Gettysburg Times at 1 o'clock this afternoon disclosed. A total of 1,608 had cast their ballots as against 1,329 found in a 1:30 p. m. survey in 1940.

Voters in the second ward were turning out in the largest numbers. There 325 had voted by 1 o'clock. In the first precinct of the first ward, 233 had cast their ballots at the engine house and in the second precinct, voting at the Hotel Gettysburg annex, 221 had voted. The third ward total was 229.

Election board members agreed that, judging from the length of time the voters spent in the booths, most of them are "voting straight."

The Gettysburg Times office will be open throughout tonight and Wednesday morning for the convenience of those who wish information on the results of county, state and national balloting.

PIN MONEY BOND CAMPAIGN WILL FEATURE DRIVE

An organization meeting of the "Pin Money Bond" committee for the county was held Monday afternoon at the YWCA, with the group chairman, Mrs. Harold J. Pegg, presiding.

The representatives at the meeting, and the groups which they represent included: Mrs. Paul C. Thomas and Mrs. Charles Pitzer, co-chairmen from the Women's club; Mrs. David Blocher, Sororist club; Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh, Campus club; Mrs. Preston Hull, Eastern Star; Mrs. Joseph Codori, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Charles Laurer, Women of the Moose; Mrs. Spurgeon A. Messner, the Needlepoint club; Mrs. Wilbur Baker and Mrs. Kermit Deardorff, various social clubs; Miss Jean Spangler, the Business and Professional Women's club; and Mrs. Florence Grindler and Mrs. Luther B. Others in attendance were Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman of the women's division of the County War Finance committee; Mrs. Guile W. Lelever, co-chairman of the county women's group; and Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, Gettysburg chairman.

An effort will be made by the committee to contact every woman in the county in the interest of the drive. Included with the books will be a pin money bond sticker to be attached to the inside cover of the albums. The sticker will be the same size as the album and will be printed in blue ink on white paper with the following wording: "For Victory." (Please Turn to Page 3)

The training program at Gettysburg college of the 3329th Service Unit (ASTU) scheduled to terminate on December 2 has been extended to March 12, it was announced today by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president.

Doctor Hanson said that he had been advised by the War Department that the training program for the young untrained students, 17 and 18 years of age, had been extended from December 2 to March 12, an extension of four months.

One hundred and forty-six young men, not eligible for the draft because of age, will be retained here to continue their combination academic instruction and military training under the command of Lt. Col. Frank Sharpless and his staff.

The unit was activated on June 6 with 225 members. The original plan called for a training period of six months. The extension provides for a nine months' course.

Following the business meeting of the Rebekah lodge Thursday evening a covered dish luncheon will be held.

BOMBER PILOT, HOME ON LEAVE; 6 DECORATIONS

Lt. Harvey W. Dickert, pilot of a B-17 bomber with an Eighth Army Air Force bombardment group, is home for a 21-day leave after completing 35 missions during more than five months overseas.

Lieutenant Dickert, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dickert, 73 Stevens street, was one of three crew members on the bomber. The other two were Lt. Raymond W. Spahr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spahr, 168 York street, the navigator, and Lt. Vernon Keilholz, of Emmitsburg, the co-pilot also home on leave. Lieutenant Spahr is expected home on leave in the near future.

There was one of the most unique officer combinations on a bomber in the European area—two of the four officers, Dickert and Spahr were classmates in Gettysburg high school—and a third, Keilholz, lives within 10 miles of the Gettysburg men. The bombardier is from the middle west.

2 are G. H. S. Graduates
The Gettysburg airman graduated from the local school in 1940. Both enlisted in the Air Corps and by one of the strange quirks of Army assignment were both placed in the same B-17 crew when it was formed at Salt Lake City, Utah, last winter.

Dickert enlisted in July, 1942, but wasn't called to active duty as a cadet for pilot training until January 17, 1943. His first 10 months in the Air Corps were spent at various fields in the west. He trained at Santa Ana, Santa Maria, and Chico, California; Yuma, Arizona, and Roswell, New Mexico.

Next he went to Salt Lake City for training and there met his crew members for the next 10 months. They trained at Salt Lake City, Sioux City Iowa; and finally went to Kearney, Nebraska, where they "staged" preparatory to going to England.

Receives Decorations
The group went overseas in May of this year and took part in many of the post-invasion bombing raids on Germany and occupied Europe. For his part in the air battles, Lieutenant Dickert was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with Four Oak Leaf Clusters, and is entitled to wear the European Theater of Operations Ribbon with two battle stars.

At the conclusion of his 21-day leave he will report to an Army Air Forces reassignment at Richmond, Virginia, probably to be assigned to duty as an instructor somewhere in the United States.

Forest In Flames
Heavy, see-saw tank and infantry fighting swirled in the flame-charred forestlands southeast of Aachen. Doughboys rewon the portions of Vossenack, 13 miles from Aachen, temporarily lost yesterday. Other Americans pushed closer to the town of Schmidt, once in U. S. hands, and toward Hurtgen. The towns are strongpoints along the Roer river line before the Cologne plain.

Supreme headquarters dispatches said the Germans had rushed reserves from Arnhem in attempts to ward off the first Army blows—at Aachen, that might simply be feints, or preparation for a major drive. Berlin's broadcast communique said Allied forces hitting toward the Vosges mountain gaps had reached the west bank of the Meurthe river between Baccarat and St. Die.

Strong Resistance
French troops seized three villages in an arc east of Baccarat, closing on the Schirmeck and Saales passes, supreme headquarters said, and Americans won St. Remi, Nompeliez, and La Salle at the approaches to the Saales and St. Marie passes.

Three 15-minute talks are to be delivered on these topics: "Work for Community Organizations to Do," "Getting the Work Done" and "The Importance of the Job." A general round table discussion is to follow the talks.

To Discuss Problems
Details of the program will be announced later in the week. The meeting is being held to suggest and coordinate community work in towns and cities in this area with civic organizations taking the lead.

There will be an appraisal of opportunities and actual needs for community betterment through industrial, business, social and civic enterprise. Various communities represented will be invited to present their problems during the discussion period that will follow the talks in which broad general suggestions will be outlined.

Reservations for the dinner at $1.50 per plate may be made through the local Chamber of Commerce office, telephone 162, on or before Saturday.

Following the business meeting of the Rebekah lodge Thursday evening a covered dish luncheon will be held.

Carrier Planes Bag 66th Vessel In Fifteen Days

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Nov. 7 (AP)—Six warships of Japan's sea-shy fleet were caught near Manila and sunk or damaged Sunday (Philippines Time) by Hellicats, Helldivers and Avengers of the U. S. Third Fleet.

The raid, just disclosed by the Navy, raised to at least 66 the total enemy warships sunk or damaged since Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed Oct. 20 in the central Philippines.

Striking at a mustering point for counterblows against MacArthur's invasion scene, the carrier planes definitely sank a sub chaser, probably sank a heavy cruiser, damaged a light cruiser and three destroyers and wiped out nearly 200 enemy aircraft in day and night attacks. The sub chaser went down off the southeast coast of Luzon. The other five were caught by surprise in Manila Bay.

Equally important in relation to the invasion operations on Leyte, the Clark, Batangas, Lipa, Legaspi and Lubang airfields were devastated. These fields, together with others under attack by MacArthur's land-based bombers on Cebu and Negros, have been springing air attacks against Yank air bases and docks on Leyte.

Fifty-eight out of 80 Nipponese planes were shot out of the sky over Clark Field by day and three more at night. Twenty-five enemy planes were shot down elsewhere over Luzon and five while seeking to attack the carriers.

More than 100 aircraft were wiped out on the ground. "Our losses have not yet been reported," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said in a communique late yesterday which disclosed the raid.

Allies Regain Town Enroute To Cologne

By WILLIAM FRYE
London, Nov. 7 (AP)—U. S. troops fighting hand-to-hand against German reinforcements flung into counterattacks, won back the last half of the focal town of Vossenack and edged closer to two flanking villages today in the bloody battle to break the German Roer river barrier to Cologne.

To the south, "American" and French forces advanced two to three miles in bitter progress toward Vosges passes to Germany. In Holland, a front dispatch reported capture of the ferry terminus of Willemstad, leaving only scattered enemy troops below the Maas river. The German high command indicated a new defense line was being established on the north bank of the Maas.

First Army troops near the Roer river were meeting the most bitter kind of resistance.

A front dispatch said British Second Army troops have cleared out the last enemy garrison south of the Maas (Meuse) river in their sector of the line in the vicinity of Empel, just north of s'Herengenbosch.

Supreme headquarters announced that Allied troops on Walcheren island have taken Middelburg and Veere.

A thrust by Nazi infantry and tanks in Vossenack "forced us to withdraw temporarily a short distance in the town," today's communique said.

Clear Water Approach
Now that the Germans on Walcheren no longer blockade the Schelde estuary Allied mine sweepers and dredges have begun clearing this long water approach to Antwerp. The task must be completed before Allied men and supplies can be poured across Antwerp's docks for the big offensive, which German broadcasts said was about to break somewhere along the 500-mile Western front.

With British, Canadian, American and Polish troops stretched along the south bank of the Maas and its seaward outlet on a 50-mile front, Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery is in position to launch an attack either across the complex network of waterways below Rotterdam, 16 miles to the north, or east into Germany's industrial Ruhr valley.

MOOSE LODGE BUYS PROPERTY

Sale of the former Butt's restaurant property at 17 to 21 York street, to the Gettysburg Lodge No. 1526, Loyal Order of Moose, 25 York street, was recorded in a deed filed this morning at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner at the court house.

The owners, Jay K. and Katherine Schmitt, conveyed the property through their attorneys in fact, the First National bank of Gettysburg. The purchase price was listed as $32,000.

The former restaurant and garage property was operated before the war by the Schmitts who bought the business from Ralph Butt. Butt had conducted an eating establishment and garage there for a number of years, before which C. W. Spley had operated a miniature golf course and auto and furniture show room.

The property has a frontage on the south side of York street of 60 feet and a depth of 180 feet reaching to the alley to the rear of York street. It is a one-story building of concrete block construction.

When queried this morning, officials of the Moose organization said they had no plans to announce yet for the restaurant structure. The present Moose home is located to the east of the old Butt property.

Mrs. C. B. Dougherty entertained the members of the Monday Night Bridge club last night at her home on York street.

Two Jerry survivors sprinted for the tall timber. Garner drew a bead on them with his rifle, and then began laughing so hard he couldn't aim.

LLOYD WISLER RESIGNS FROM POLICE FORCE

Lloyd E. Wisler, member of the borough police department for the last eight years, a part of which time he served as chief, presented his resignation Monday evening to the borough council, effective November 15.

Officer Wisler told The Gettysburg Times that he has accepted a position with a baking concern at his former home, Shenandoah, Pa., and expects to move to that community with his family about a week after he ends his police duties.

Without any applicants for the police position, council asked Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer how soon the position must be filled and that official replied that he "might be able to worry along to the end of the month" without a replacement. He pointed out that if the custom of putting on an extra officer before Christmas is followed this year, an additional officer must be employed.

York Street "Wobbly"

Reporting that openings made in York street by the Gettysburg Gas company have been patched temporarily for the winter, Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Weinbrenner told council the south side of the street is "shot" and "wobbly" and may soon require a new base as a result of the damage done by the utility company. Several councilmen echoed his opinion. The street is maintained by the state.

The Gas company had asked free or reduced rate digging permits from council before the work was started on a big scale in the spring. Council insisted on cost-of-replacement fees.

The safety committee was directed to make a further study on costs of establishing regulation uniform requirements for members of the borough police force. In the past the council has allowed each officer to buy his own uniform and has given him an annual allowance of $50.

Ask Snow Removal

In reply to an inquiry from the state Department of Highways, council issued a request for the removal of snow from the town streets by the state plows with the suggestion that the plows make an effort to avoid plowing shut the sidegutters.

A safety committee meeting was suggested to study complaints aired before council Monday evening about illegal parking on the restricted north side of the first block of West Middle street. Another hazard is caused by parking on the west side of the first block of North (Please Turn to Page 3)

Gettysburgians voted at the rate of more than three a minute in the first six hours the four local polling places were open today, a survey by The Gettysburg Times at 1 o'clock this afternoon disclosed. A total of 1,008 had cast their ballots as against 1,329 found in a 1:30 p. m. survey in 1940.

Voters in the second ward were turning out in the largest numbers. There 325 had voted by 1 o'clock. In the first precinct of the first ward, 233 had cast their ballots at the engine house and in the second precinct, voting at the Hotel Gettysburg annex, 221 had voted. The third ward total was 229.

Election board members agreed that, judging from the length of time the voters spent in the booths, most of them are "voting straight."

The Gettysburg Times office will be open throughout tonight and Wednesday morning for the convenience of those who wish information on the results of county, state and national balloting.

Lt. Harvey W. Dickert, pilot of a B-17 bomber with an Eighth Army Air Force bombardment group, is home for a 21-day leave after completing 35 missions during more than five months overseas.

Lieutenant Dickert, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dickert, 73 Stevens street, was one of three crew members on the bomber. The other two were Lt. Raymond W. Spahr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spahr, 168 York street, the navigator, and Lt. Vernon Kellholtz, of Emmitsburg, the co-pilot also home on leave. Lieutenant Spahr is expected home on leave in the near future.

Theirs was one of the most unique officer combinations on a bomber in the European area—two of the four officers, Dickert and Spahr were classmates in Gettysburg high school—and a third, Kellholtz, lives within 10 miles of the Gettysburg men. The bombardier is from the middle west.

2 are G. H. S. Graduates

The Gettysburg alman graduated from the local school in 1940. Both enlisted in the Air Corps and by one of the strange quirks of Army assignment were both placed in the same B-17 crew when it was formed at Salt Lake City, Utah, last winter.

Dickert enlisted in July, 1942, but wasn't called to active duty as a cadet for pilot training until January 17, 1943. His first 10 months in the Air Corps were spent at various fields in the west. He trained at Santa Ana, Santa Maria, and Chico, California; Yuma, Arizona, and Roswell, New Mexico.

Next he went to Salt Lake City for training and there met his crew members for the next 10 months. They trained at Salt Lake City, Sioux City Iowa, and finally went to Carney, Nebraska, where they "staged" preparatory to going to England.

Receives Decorations

The group went overseas in May of this year and took part in many of the post-invasion bombing raids on Germany and occupied Europe. For his part in the air battles, Lieutenant Dickert was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with Four Oak Leaf Clusters, and is entitled to wear the European Theater of Operations Ribbon with two battle stars.

At the conclusion of his 21-day leave he will report to an Army Air Forces reassignment at Richmond, Virginia, probably to be assigned to duty as an instructor somewhere in the United States.

Carrier Planes Bag 66th Vessel In Fifteen Days

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Nov. 7 (AP)—Six warships of Japan's sea-shy fleet were caught near Manila and sunk or damaged Sunday (Philippines Time) by Hellcats, Helldivers and Avengers of the U. S. Third Fleet.

The raid, just disclosed by the Navy, raised to at least 66 the total enemy warships sunk or damaged since Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed Oct. 20 in the central Philippines.

Striking at a mustering point for counterblows against MacArthur's invasion scene, the carrier planes definitely sank a sub chaser, probably sank a heavy cruiser, damaged a light cruiser and three destroyers and wiped out nearly 200 enemy aircraft in day and night attacks.

The sub chaser went down off the southeast coast of Luzon. The other five were caught by surprise in Manila Bay.

Equally important in relation to the invasion operations on Leyte, the Clark, Batangas, Lipa, Legaspi and Lubang airfields were devastated. These fields, together with others under attack by MacArthur's land-based bombers on Cebu and Negros, have been springing air attacks against Yank air bases and docks on Leyte.

Fifty-eight out of 80 Nipponese planes were shot out of the sky over Clark Field by day and three more at night. Twenty-five enemy planes were shot down elsewhere over Luzon and five while seeking to attack the carriers.

More than 100 aircraft were wiped out on the ground.

"Our losses have not yet been reported," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said in a communique late yesterday which disclosed the raid.

Allies Regain Town Enroute To Cologne

By WILLIAM FRYE

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—U. S. troops fighting hand-to-hand against German reinforcements flung into counterattacks, won back the last half of the focal town of Vossenack and edged closer to two flanking villages today in the bloody battle to break the German Roer river barrier to Cologne.

To the south, American and French forces advanced two to three miles in bitter progress toward Vossenack passes to Germany. In Holland, a front dispatch reported capture of the ferry terminus of Willemstad, leaving only scattered enemy troops below the Maas river. The German high command indicated a new defense line was being established on the north bank of the Maas.

Forest In Flames

Heavy, see-saw tank and infantry fighting swirled in the flam-charred forestlands southeast of Aachen. Doughboys rewon the portions of Vossenack, 13 miles from Aachen, temporarily lost yesterday. Other Americans pushed closer to the town of Schmidt, once in U. S. hands, and toward Hurlgen. The towns are strongpoints along the Roer river line before the Cologne plain.

Supreme headquarters dispatches said the Germans had rushed reserves from Arnhem in attempts to ward off the first Army blows—attacks that might simply be feints, or preparation for a major drive.

Berlin's broadcast communique said Allied forces hitting toward the Vosges mountain gaps had reached the west bank of the Meurthe river between Baccarat and St. Die.

Strong Resistance

French troops seized three villages in an arc east of Baccarat, closing on the Schirmeck and Saales passes, supreme headquarters said, and Americans won St. Remy, Nompelze, and La Salle at the approaches to the Saales and Ste. Marie passes.

ASTU REMAINS UNTIL MARCH 12

The training program at Gettysburg college of the 3329th Service Unit (ASTU), scheduled to terminate on December 2 has been extended to March 12, it was announced today by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president.

Doctor Hanson said that he had been advised by the War Department that the training program for the young uniformed students, 17 and 18 years of age, had been extended from December 2 to March 12, an extension of four months.

One hundred and forty-six young men, not eligible for the draft because of age, will be retained here to continue their combination academic instruction and military training under the command of Lt. Col. Frank Sharpless and his staff.

The unit was activated on June 6 with 225 members. The original plan called for a training period of six months. The extension provides for a nine months' course.

LEGION PLANS NOV. 11 FETE

Plans for an Armistice Day celebration Friday morning at Gettysburg high school, and for the annual banquet Friday evening of the Last Man's club of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion were discussed at a meeting Monday evening at the post home, Baltimore street.

Plans for the Armistice Day program at the high school were being completed today and will be announced Wednesday. Lawrence M. Sheads is in charge of the committee of arrangements for that program.

Weather Forecast

Japs Match Germans For Brutality; Erase Towns

San Francisco, Nov. 7 (AP)—Emulating the Germans at Lidice, Japanese have wiped out at least two villages of the Netherlands East Indies with virtually their entire populations, headquarters of Netherlands forces in the Far East announced today.

A village near Medan, on Sumatra, was soaked with kerosene and petrol and burned to the ground. Any inhabitants who tried to escape were shot with machine guns.

A village on Java was set afire by incendiary bombs, and machine guns also were turned on those trying to flee.

Other atrocities were described in a document, "Japanese Atrocities in Occupied Netherlands Indies." It listed cases of savage mistreatment of prisoners of war and civilian populations.

Some people were burned alive; some were forced to drink soapy water until they were bloated, and then soldiers jumped on their stomachs until the water spouted from their mouths. Prisoners were suspended by their feet and their heads were bumped on the ground. Others were forced to stand with their heads thrown back and their eyes opened to the blazing sun.

Javanese women who resisted the advances of Japanese soldiers, the document related, were bayoneted through the breasts.

"The brutality practiced by the enemy during his administration of the islands has been so appalling that this headquarters is making public a few of the instances but by no means the most severe," the document said.

The names of the destroyed villages were not published but the document said the one on Sumatra was wiped out because it was the home of a newspaper writer who criticized the Japanese in an article in the Medan newspaper.

MOOSE LODGE BUYS PROPERTY

Sale of the former Butt's restaurant property at 17 to 21 York street, to the Gettysburg Lodge No. 1526, Loyal Order of Moose, 25 York street, was recorded in a deed filed this morning at the office of Registrar and Recorder Winfield G. Horner at the court house.

The owners, Jay K. and Katherine Schmitt, conveyed the property through their attorneys in fact, the First National bank of Gettysburg. The purchase price was listed as $32,000.

The former restaurant and garage property was operated before the war by the Schmitts who bought the business from Ralph Butt. Butt had conducted an eating establishment and garage there for a number of years, before which C. W. Epley had operated a miniature golf course and auto and furniture show room.

The property has a frontage on the south side of York street of 60 feet and a depth of 180 feet reaching to the alley to the rear of York street. It is a one-story building of concrete block construction.

When queried this morning, officials of the Moose organization said they had no plans to announce yet for the restaurant structure. The present Moose home is located to the east of the old Butt property.

Mrs. C. B. Dougherty entertained the members of the Monday Night Bridge club last night at her home on York street.

Hot And Cold Running Water
In A Foxhole

By HAL BOYLE
With American Troops in Germany, Oct. 29 (Delayed) (AP)—It was dark and the two soldiers were sleepy.
Pfc. Otto Kaiser of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Pvt. Thomas A. Gill of Turtle Creek, Pa., dug a foxhole and covered the floor with straw. They fell asleep.
They awoke a few hours later in four inches of water. Drowsily they baled it out and lay down to sleep again. They awoke once more to find water again in their foxhole, but they were too tired to get up. By dawn they were practically floating around. They found they had dug their foxhole on the site of a spring.
Instead of abandoning it, these resourceful troopers dug a channel to let the water escape, hollowed out a basin in which to wash themselves, built themselves a stove and advertised throughout the division: "The only foxhole with hot and cold running water."
"Just Initials"
German machinegun bullets whistling past his bulldozer did not bother T-5 Francis Goetz of Green Bay, Wis.
"They won't hit you unless they've got your name on 'em," he called lightly to another soldier.
Whang! A Nazi bullet spanked against the steel crossbar, three inches above his head. Goetz dove into a foxhole a second later, abandoning his battle philosophy.
"No name—just initials," he muttered.
"Milking Machine"
Pfc. Leslie T. Kerr, Akron, Ohio, heard something moving in the bushes and warned the assistant squad leader that on the other side of the stone fence he had glimpsed a Jerry soldier, "gun and all."
It was near Brest. The assistant squad leader sneaked carefully to take a look and then stomped back in disgust.
"That," he announced, "is the first German I've ever seen with four legs, two horns, a tail and a milking machine."
G-I Service
Capt. John C. Cole, Louisville, Ky., jokingly told his supply sergeant, Tommy Powers of Worcester, Mass.: "If you don't get me a canteen cup pretty soon, I'm going to bust you lower than a snake's belly."
At the next chow lineup Capt. Cole, who is an officer in an armored division, found 18 cups in his barracks bag.
"One Eye On 'Em"
When they get around to picking "the coolest man in the Army," an Infantry Division will have a good nominee in Pfc. William Murphy of Greensboro, N. C.
His outfit was subjected to a terrific artillery battering during a fight with three elite Nazi regiments. His buddies looked out of their foxholes, and there was Murphy, sitting calmly by a tree—reading a comics book.
Later his company moved up into the woods and sniper bullets began zinging past.
"Snipers, Murphy—snipers!" shouted his buddies, leaping for their foxholes.
"Oh," drawled Murphy lazily, "I got one eye on 'em."
"Pants Ablaze"
If only Staff Sgt. Oliver Garner could have stopped laughing he could have had two more Nazis.
His armored division tank, "I Don't Wanna," engaged a German 20 mm. ack-ack gun dug in along the roadside, and destroyed it with a direct hit.
Two Jerry survivors sprinted for the tall timber. Garner drew a bead on them with his rifle, and then began laughing so hard he couldn't aim.

LLOYD WISLER RESIGNS FROM POLICE FORCE

Lloyd E. Wisler, member of the borough police department for the last eight years, a part of which time he served as chief, presented his resignation Monday evening to the borough council, effective November 15.

Officer Wisler told The Gettysburg Times that he has accepted a position with a baking concern at his former home, Shenandoah, Pa., and expects to move to that community with his family about a week after he ends his police duties.

Without any applicants for the police position, council asked Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer how soon the position must be filled and that official replied that he "might be able to worry along to the end of the month" without a replacement. He pointed out that if the custom of putting on an extra officer before Christmas is followed this year, an additional officer must be employed.

York Street "Wobbly"
Reporting that openings made in York street by the Gettysburg Gas company have been patched temporarily for the winter, Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner told council the south side of the street is "shot" and "wobbly" and may soon require a new base as a result of the damage done by the utility company. Several councilmen echoed his opinion. The street is maintained by the state.

The Gas company had asked free or reduced rate digging permits from council before the work was started on a big scale in the spring. Council insisted on cost-of-replacement fees.

The safety committee was directed to make a further study on costs of establishing regulation uniform requirements for members of the borough police force. In the past the council has allowed each officer to buy his own uniform and has given him an annual allowance of $50.

In reply to an inquiry from the state Department of Highways, council issued a request for the removal of snow from the town streets by the state plows with the suggestion that the plows make an effort to avoid plowing shut the sideguts.

A safety committee meeting was suggested to study complaints aired before council Monday evening about illegal parking on the restricted north side of the first block of West Middle street. Another hazard is caused by parking on the west side of the first block of North (Please Turn to Page 3)

Japs Match Germans For Brutality; Erase Towns

San Francisco, Nov. 7 (AP)—Emulating the Germans at Lidie, Japanese have wiped out at least two villages of the Netherlands East Indies with virtually their entire populations, headquarters of Netherlands forces in the Far East announced today.

A village near Medan, on Sumatra, was soaked with kerosene and petrol and burned to the ground. Any inhabitants who tried to escape were shot with machine guns.

A village on Java was set afire by incendiary bombs, and machine guns also were turned on those trying to flee.

Other atrocities were described in a document, "Japanese Atrocities in Occupied Netherlands Indies." It listed cases of savage mistreatment of prisoners of war and civilian populations.

GOOD TURNOUT
AT POLLS HERE

Gettysburgians voted at the rate of more than three a minute in the first six hours the four local polling places were open today, a survey by The Gettysburg Times at 1 o'clock this afternoon disclosed. A total of 1,008 had cast their ballots as against 1,329 found in a 1:30 p. m. survey in 1940.

Voters in the second ward were turning out in the largest numbers. There 325 had voted by 1 o'clock. In the first precinct of the first ward, 233 had cast their ballots at the engine house and in the second precinct, voting at the Hotel Gettysburg annex, 221 had voted. The third ward total was 229.

Election board members agreed that, judging from the length of time the voters spent in the booths, most of them are "voting straight."

PIN MONEY BOND CAMPAIGN WILL FEATURE DRIVE

An organization meeting of the "Pin Money Bond" committee for the county was held Monday afternoon at the YWCA with the group chairman, Mrs. Harold J. Pegg, presiding.

The committee, which is composed of representatives of various women's organizations in the county, will distribute War Savings stamp books to as many women as possible, to encourage the saving of "pin money" for the purchase of war bonds during the sixth War Loan drive, which opens November 20.

The representatives at the meeting, and the groups which they represent included: Mrs. Paul C. Thomas and Mrs. Charles Pitzer, co-chairmen from the Woman's club; Mrs. David Blocher, Soropomist club; Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh, Campus club; Mrs. Preston Hull, Eastern Star; Mrs. Joseph Codori, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Charles Lauver, Women of the Moose; Mrs. Spurgeon A. Messner, the Needlepoint club; Mrs. Wilbur Baker and Mrs. Kermit Dearthoff, various social clubs; Miss Jean Spangler, the Business and Professional Women's club; and Mrs. Florence Grindler and Mrs. Luther B. Smith, the Rebekahs and the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Special Stickers
Others in attendance were Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman of the women's division of the County War Finance committee; Mrs. Guile W. Lefever, co-chairman of the county women's group; and Mrs. Frank H. Kramer, Gettysburg chairman.

An effort will be made by the committee to contact every woman in the county in the interest of the drive. Included with the books will be a pin money bond sticker to be attached to the inside cover of the albums. The sticker will be the same size as the album and will be printed in blue ink on white paper with the following wording: "For Victory, (Please Turn to Page 3) jumped on their stomachs until the water spouted from their mouths. Prisoners were suspended by their feet and their heads were bumped on the ground. Others were forced to stand with their heads thrown back and their eyes opened to the blazing sun.

Javanese women who resisted the advances of Japanese soldiers, the document related, were bayoneted through the breasts.

"The brutality practiced by the enemy during his administration of the islands has been so appalling that this headquarters is making public a few of the instances but by no means the most severe," the document said.

The names of the destroyed villages were not published but the document said the one on Sumatra was wiped out because it was the home of a newspaper writer who criticized the Japanese in an article in the Medan newspaper.

BOMBER PILOT,
HOME ON LEAVE;
6 DECORATIONS

Lt. Harvey W. Dickert, pilot of a B-17 bomber with an Eighth Army Air Force bombardment group, is home for a 21-day leave after completing 35 missions during more than five months overseas.

Lieutenant Dickert, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dickert, 73 Stevens street, was one of three crew members on the bomber. The other two were Lt. Raymond W. Spahr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spahr, 168 York street, the navigator, and Lt. Vernon Kellholtz, of Emmitsburg, the co-pilot also home on leave. Lieutenant Spahr is expected home on leave in the near future.

Theirs was one of the most unique officer combinations on a bomber in the European area—two of the four officers, Dickert and Spahr were classmates in Gettysburg high school—and a third, Kellholtz, lives within 10 miles of the Gettysburg men. The bombardier is from the middle west.

2 are G. H. S. Graduates
The Gettysburg airman graduated from the local school in 1940. Both enlisted in the Air Corps and by one of the strange quirks of Army assignment were both placed in the same B-17 crew when it was formed at Salt Lake City, Utah, last winter.

Dickert enlisted in July, 1942, but wasn't called to active duty as a cadet for pilot training until January 17, 1943. His first 10 months in the Air Corps were spent at various fields in the west. He trained at Santa Ana, Santa Maria, and Chico, California; Yuma, Arizona, and Roswell, New Mexico.

Next he went to Salt Lake City for training and there met his crew members for the next 10 months. They trained at Salt Lake City, Sioux City Iowa; and finally went to Carney, Nebraska, where they "staged" preparatory to going to England.

Receives Decorations
The group went overseas in May of this year and took part in many of the post-invasion bombing raids on Germany and occupied Europe. For his part in the air battles, Lieutenant Dickert was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with Four Oak Leaf Clusters, and is entitled to wear the European Theater of Operations Ribbon with two battle stars.

At the conclusion of his 21-day leave he will report to an Army Air Forces reassignment at Richmond, Virginia, probably to be assigned to duty as an instructor somewhere in the United States.

Carrier Planes
Bag 66th Vessel
In Fifteen Days

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Nov. 7 (AP)—Six warships of Japan's sea-shy fleet were caught near Manila and sunk or damaged Sunday (Philippines Time) by Hellicats, Helldivers and Avengers of the U. S. Third Fleet.

The raid, just disclosed by the Navy, raised to at least 66 the total enemy warships sunk or damaged since Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed Oct. 20 in the central Philippines.

Striking at a mustering point for counterblows against MacArthur's invasion scene, the carrier planes definitely sank a sub chaser, probably sank a heavy cruiser, damaged a light cruiser and three destroyers and wiped out nearly 200 enemy aircraft in day and night attacks. The sub chaser went down off the southeast coast of Luzon. The other five were caught by surprise in Manila Bay.

Equally important in relation to the invasion operations on Leyte, the Clark, Batangas, Lipa, Legaspi and Lubang airfields were devastated. These fields, together with others under attack by MacArthur's land-based bombers on Cebu and Negros, have been springing air attacks against Yank air bases and docks on Leyte.

Fifty-eight out of 80 Nipponese planes were shot out of the sky over Clark Field by day and three more at night. Twenty-five enemy planes were shot down elsewhere over Luzon and five while seeking to attack the carriers.

More than 100 aircraft were wiped out on the ground.

"Our losses have not yet been reported," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said in a communique late yesterday which disclosed the raid.

Allies Regain Town
Enroute To Cologne

By WILLIAM FRYE
London, Nov. 7 (AP)—U. S. troops fighting hand-to-hand against German reinforcements flung into counterattacks, won back the last half of the focal town of Vossenack and edged closer to two flanking villages today in the bloody battle to break the German Roer river barrier to Cologne.

To the south, American and French forces advanced two to three miles in bitter progress toward Vosges passes to Germany. In Holland, a front dispatch reported capture of the ferry terminus of Willemstad, leaving only scattered enemy troops below the Maas river. The German high command indicated a new defense line was being established on the north bank of the Maas.

Forest In Flames
Heavy, sea-saw tank and infantry fighting swirled in the flam-charred forestlands southeast of Aachen. Doughboys rewon the portions of Vossenack, 13 miles from Aachen, temporarily lost yesterday. Other Americans pushed closer to the town of Schmidt, once in U. S. hands, and toward Hurtgen. The towns are strongpoints along the Roer river line before the Cologne plain.

Supreme headquarters dispatches said the Germans had rushed reserves from Arnhem in attempts to ward off the first Army blows—attacks that might simply be feints, or preparation for a major drive.

Berlin's broadcast communique said Allied forces hitting toward the Vosges mountain gaps had reached the west bank of the Meur river between Baccarat and St. Die.

Strong Resistance
French troops seized three villages in an arc east of Baccarat, closing on the Schirmeck and Saales passes, supreme headquarters said, and Americans won St. Remy, Nompelzelle, and La Salette at the approaches to the Saales and Ste. Marie passes.

ASTU REMAINS
UNTIL MARCH 12

The training program at Gettysburg college of the 3329th Service Unit (ASTU) scheduled to terminate on December 2 has been extended to March 12, it was announced today by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president.

Doctor Hanson said that he had been advised by the War Department that the training program for the young uniformed students, 17 and 18 years of age, had been extended from December 2 to March 12, an extension of four months.

One hundred and forty-six young men, not eligible for the draft because of age, will be retained here to continue their combination academic instruction and military training under the command of Lt. Col. Frank Sharpless and his staff.

The unit was activated on June 6 with 225 members. The original plan called for a training period of six months. The extension provides for a nine months' course.

MOOSE LODGE
BUYS PROPERTY

Sale of the former Butt's restaurant property at 17 to 21 York street, to the Gettysburg Lodge No. 1526, Loyal Order of Moose, 25 York street, was recorded in a deed filed this morning at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner at the court house.

The owners, Jay K. and Katherine Schmitt, conveyed the property through their attorneys in fact, the First National bank of Gettysburg. The purchase price was listed as $32,000.

The former restaurant and garage property was operated before the war by the Schmitts who bought the business from Ralph Butt. Butt had conducted an eating establishment and garage there for a number of years, before which C. W. Epley had operated a miniature golf course and auto and furniture show room.

The property has a frontage on the south side of York street of 60 feet and a depth of 180 feet reaching to the alley to the rear of York street. It is a one-story building of concrete block construction.

When queried this morning, officials of the Moose organization said they had no plans to announce yet for the restaurant structure. The present Moose home is located to the east of the old Butt property.

Mrs. C. B. Dougherty entertained the members of the Monday Night Bridge club last night at her home on York street.

CAN'T PREDICT END OF HITLER'S RULE OF NAZIS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Marshal Stalin's declaration that Germany is "on the verge of inevitable catastrophe" is good to hear but it would have been great if he could have told us "when" the catastrophe is likely to claim its own.

Actually of course neither the astute Stalin nor anybody else can pin the thing down, for there are imponderables which only time can clarify. It isn't as easy as it was that June night in 1938 when another Nazi, Max Schmelling, hung paralyzed on the ropes in the first round at the Yankee stadium while an angry Joe Louis measured him coolly for the knockout with that terrible right. We at the ringside could say definitely that the German would be unconscious in another second.

We can't gauge it that close with Hitler. The Allied high command still may hope to give us a Merry Christmas, but on the other hand Winston Churchill says it's difficult to believe the European war "can be ended before Christmas or even Easter."

Crushing The Fuehrer
Stalin points out that the main problem of the moment is to "crush Hitlerite Germany in the shortest possible time," and says the "key to victory" is "to continue holding Germany between two fronts." If we want to get technical we can say we are holding the Nazi dictator on four fronts—east, west, south, and that ever changing air front with its awful striking power.

The Fuehrer is in a hydraulic box which is closing to crush him. However, it takes pressure to move those sides inward and that pressure must be applied simultaneously in order to get quick results. That raises the question of (1) when the western Allies will be able to launch an offensive sufficiently strong to carry us across the Rhine, and (2) when the triumphant Red Army will be able to make an all-out drive against the Vistula line which is Hitler's last strong defense short of his own border.

Then we must consider that as Hitler pulls his armies back he shortens his fighting fronts and communications. Thus theoretically he increases the strength of his defenses, since his man-power and material will go further. And the Germans clearly indicate that they are going to be no push-over. Of course the Allies also will be shortening their own fronts as they close in, but they will be lengthening their communications. Their supply problems then multiply.

Budapest

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—Red Army troops battled strongly reinforced Nazi forces in the outskirts of Budapest today, spurred by Premier-Marshall Stalin's pronouncement that Hungary would soon be out of the war.

In an order of the day issued on this 27th anniversary of the Soviet revolution, Stalin declared the Red Army and its western Allies "have taken up the jumping off positions for the decisive offensive against the vital centers of Germany" and that "we now stand on the eve of complete victory."

Russian columns were fighting within two miles south of the big Nazi-operated Peribegy airbase in Budapest's outskirts, apparently seeking to coil around the eastern part of the city.

In a proclamation preceding the order of the day, Stalin asserted that the defeat of Hungary would signify the "complete isolation of Hitlerite Germany, and early catastrophe will follow inevitably."

Leyte

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 7 (AP)—American battle veterans, already four miles south of Carigara Bay, continued an unchecked advance today through Japanese mountain defenses on the twisting highway toward Ormoc and the finale of the Leyte Island campaign.

Ormoc, last Japanese stronghold on the island, was 16 miles away, after the determined 24th division beat off three night counterattacks and punched beyond Limon, on the mountain pass road.

R. C. TO HELP SEND MESSAGES TO INTERNEES

Plans have been completed by the American Red Cross for the expedited delivery of special Red Cross messages to United States prisoners of war and U. S. civilian internees in the Philippines. Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the local chapter announced today.

The information was received Monday in a telegram from the national director of home service, Mrs. Kathryn N. Ellis, Arlington, Virginia, to the local office.

Mrs. Ellis said that one Red Cross message form, which may be obtained at the chapter offices on Baltimore street, may be accepted through November 13 from any person in the United States wishing to send it to relatives and friends now held as U. S. prisoners of war or U. S. civilian internees in the Philippines, but only when their address is known.

Subject To Censorship
The messages will be subject to regular Army overseas mail censorship, the national home service director said, but will not be limited to 25 words. They may be continued on the reverse side of the form, number 1616, and should be forwarded by air mail to the home service national headquarters at Arlington.

Mrs. Ellis cautioned that the Red Cross cannot guarantee delivery but every effort will be made to reach the addressees so they may establish contact with their families as soon as possible after the islands are liberated.

She said she hoped arrangements may be made for the addressee to reply directly to families and she urged that families should also continue to write to prisoners of war and civilian internees by regular mail, in addition to the special message.

None To Filipinos

The Red Cross can not accept messages for U. S. free civilians and Filipinos under this plan because of the special government channels to be used for the delivery of the messages, Mrs. Ellis stated.

She said that the Relief for Americans in the Philippines organization was sending a mimeographed letter to persons in this country whose names they have on file suggesting they call at local Red Cross chapters and complete form number 1616.

LEGIONNAIRES HOLD SERVICE

The annual American Legion memorial service of the John W. Ocker Post of Littlestown was held Sunday evening in St. Alorinus Catholic church, Littlestown. A fifteen-minute organ program preceded the service. A procession was played as the Legionnaires and the Auxiliary members entered the church.

Clarence Krichen carried the American flag and Herman Kaler the Legion colors which were placed in the sanctuary for the service. The papal flag and the parish service flag also occupied a place in the sanctuary.

The pastor, the Rev. John H. Weber, began the service with prayer including prayers for our country and for victory. "Come Holy Ghost" was sung by the choir and the sermon was delivered by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick P. McGee, a veteran of World War I, of McSherrytown, who used as his theme "The Spirit of Sacrifice." He opened his remarks by saying that "it is well to be here to show that we believe in God and to honor Him for past favors."

Msgr. McGee stressed the necessity of keeping the ten commandments, of building a home and preserving family life, and the need of prayer in our daily lives.

Miss Marie Budde sang an "Agnus Dei" after which solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was celebrated. The benediction hymns "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo" were sung by the choir, the blessing was given and the divine praises, recited by priest and people. Msgr. McGee was celebrant; Rev. Cletus Wagman, also of McSherrytown, was deacon and Rev. Edward J. O'Flynn, of Hanover, former pastor at Littlestown, was sub-deacon. The closing hymn was "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

The Legionnaires left the church as the recessional was played. Miss Anna Weaver presided at the organ. The three altars of the church were decorated with autumn flowers and leaves and lighted candelabra. The church was filled to capacity for the service.

PLAN CLASSES IN FARM REPAIR WORK

Plans for a class in farm machinery repair to be held two nights each week were approved by the Biglerville school board at a meeting Monday evening. The plans were outlined at a meeting of an advisory committee held recently at the home of Cecil R. Snyder, Benderville. Members of the committee include Earl Smith, Harry Garretson, Guy Deardoff, Walter Melior and Arthur Ebbert. Prof. L. V. Stock, supervising principal of the school, and Richard Lighter, vocational education advisor for Adams county, met with the committee.

If sufficient interest and demand for the class are shown meetings will continue for 20 weeks with Mr. Snyder in charge. A new electric welder, financed by the federal government, has been added to equipment.

All farmers and any others interested in joining the class are requested to contact Mr. Snyder or any member of the committee. Classes will start the first or second week in December.

Last week Doctor Broyles, of State College, took pictures of the agriculture department, the shop and greenhouse at Biglerville high school which will be used in publications by Pennsylvania State college.

Final work is being completed on the greenhouse which will be ready for use within a short time.

The Children of the Church group of Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville, will meet Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Walter Frederick, Mrs. Donald E. Lower and Mrs. Guy Herring comprise a committee to make plans for the members of the group and their activities during the hour of meeting. CAN'T PREDICT END OF HITLER'S RULE OF NAZIS

(Associated Press War Analyst)

Marshal Stalin's declaration that Germany is "on the verge of inevitable catastrophe" is good to hear, but it would have been great if he could have told us "when" the catastrophe is likely to claim its own.

Actually of course neither the astute Stalin nor anybody else can pin the thing down, for there are imponderables which only time can clarify. It isn't as easy as it was that June night in 1938 when another Nazi, Max Schmelling, hung paralyzed on the ropes in the first round at the Yankee stadium while an angry Joe Louis measured him coolly for the knockout with that terrible right. We at the ringside could say definitely that the German would be unconscious in another second.

We can't gauge it that close with Hitler. The Allied high command still may hope to give us a Merry Christmas, but on the other hand Winston Churchill says it's difficult to believe the European war "can be ended before Christmas or even Easter."

Crushing The Fuehrer

Stalin points out that the main problem of the moment is to "crush Hitlerite Germany in the shortest possible time," and says the "key to victory" is "to continue holding Germany between two fronts." If we want to get technical we can say we are holding the Nazi dictator on four fronts—east, west, south, and that ever changing air front with its awful striking power.

The Fuehrer is in a hydraulic box which is closing to crush him. However, it takes pressure to move those sides inward and that pressure must be applied simultaneously in order to get quick results. That raises the question of (1) when the western Allies will be able to launch an offensive sufficiently strong to carry us across the Rhine, and (2) when the triumphant Red Army will be able to make an all-out drive against the Vistula line which is Hitler's last strong defense short of his own border.

Then we must consider that as Hitler pulls his armies back he shortens his fighting fronts and communications. Thus theoretically he increases the strength of his defenses, since his man-power and material will go further. And the Germans clearly indicate that they are going to be no push-over. Of course the Allies also will be shortening their own fronts as they close in, but they will be lengthening their communications. Their supply problems then multiply.

Sgt. Clyde Little On Italian Front

(Special To The Gettysburg Times)
With the Fifth Army, Italy—T. Sgt. Clyde L. Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Little, West Middle street, serving with the 53rd Signal battalion now in its 27th month overseas, is fighting in the Gothic line on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

In recognition of its services in maintaining corps communications during four campaigns, Northern Algeria, Tunisia, Sicily and Italy, the unit received the Fifth Army plaque and clasps from II Corps Commander Major General Geoffrey Keys, who presented it to Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commanding general of the Fifth Army.

The signalmen are now engaged in maintaining communications beyond Futa Pass.

Budapest

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—Red Army troops battled strongly reinforced Nazi forces in the outskirts of Budapest today, spurred by Premier-Marshall Stalin's pronouncement that Hungary would soon be out of the war.

In an order of the day issued on the 27th anniversary of the Soviet revolution, Stalin declared the Red Army and its western Allies "have taken up the jumping off positions for the decisive offensive against the vital centers of Germany" and that "we now stand on the eve of complete victory."

Russian columns were fighting within two miles south of the big Nazi-operated Perleghy airdrome in Budapest's outskirts, apparently seeking to coil around the eastern part of the city.

In a proclamation preceding the order of the day, Stalin asserted that the defeat of Hungary would signify the "complete isolation of Hitlerite Germany, and early catastrophe will follow inevitably."

R. C. TO HELP SEND MESSAGES TO INTERNEES

Plans have been completed by the American Red Cross for the expedited delivery of special Red Cross messages to United States prisoners of war and U. S. civilian internees in the Philippines, Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the local chapter announced today.

The information was received Monday in a telegram from the national director of home service, Mrs. Kathryn N. Ellis, Arlington, Virginia, to the local office.

Mrs. Ellis said that one Red Cross message form, which may be obtained at the chapter offices on Baltimore street, may be accepted through November 13 from any person in the United States wishing to send it to relatives and friends now held as U. S. prisoners of war or U. S. civilian internees in the Philippines, but only when their address is known.

Subject To Censorship
The messages will be subject to regular Army overseas mail censorship, the national home service director said, but will not be limited to 25 words. They may be continued on the reverse side of the form, number 1616, and should be forwarded by air mail to the home service national headquarters at Arlington.

Mrs. Ellis cautioned that the Red Cross cannot guarantee delivery but every effort will be made to reach the addressees so they may establish contact with their families as soon as possible after the islands are liberated.

She said she hoped arrangements may be made for the addressee to reply directly to families and she urged that families should also continue to write to prisoners of war and civilian internees by regular mail, in addition to the special message.

None To Filipinos
The Red Cross can not accept messages for U. S. free civilians and Filipinos under this plan because of the special government channels to be used for the delivery of the messages, Mrs. Ellis stated.

She said that the Relief for Americans in the Philippines organization was sending a mimeographed letter to persons in this country whose names they have on file suggesting they call at local Red Cross chapters and complete form number 1616.

LEGIIONNAIRES HOLD SERVICE

The annual American Legion memorial service of the John W. Ocker Post of Littlestown was held Sunday evening in St. Aloysius Catholic church, Littlestown. A fifteen-minute organ program preceded the service. A processionals was played as the Legionnaires and the Auxiliary members entered the church.

The pastor, the Rev. John H. Weber, began the service with prayer including prayers for our country and for victory. "Come Holy Ghost" was sung by the choir and the sermon was delivered by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, a veteran of World War I, of McSherrystown, who used as his theme "The Spirit of Sacrifice." He opened his remarks by saying that "It is well to be here to show that we believe in God and to honor Him for past favors." Msgr. McGee stressed the necessity of keeping the ten commandments, of building a home and preserving family life, and the need of prayer in our daily lives.

Miss Marie Budde sang an "Agnus Dei" after which solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was celebrated. The benediction hymns "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo" were sung by the choir, the blessing was given and the divine praises recited by priest and people. Msgr. McGee was celebrant; Rev. Cletus Wagnan, also of McSherrystown, was deacon and Rev. Edward J. O'Flynn, of Hanover, former pastor at Littlestown, was sub-deacon. The closing hymn was "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

The Legionnaires left the church as the recessional was played. Miss Anna Weaver presided at the organ. The three altars of the church were decorated with autumn flowers and leaves and lighted candelabra. The church was filled to capacity for the service.

CAN'T PREDICT END OF HITLER'S RULE OF NAZIS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Marshal Stalin's declaration that Germany is "on the verge of inevitable catastrophe" is good to hear, but it would have been great if he could have told us "when" the catastrophe is likely to claim its own.

Actually of course neither the astute Stalin nor anybody else can pin the thing down, for there are imperodables which only time can clarify. It isn't as easy as it was that June night in 1938 when another Nazi, Max Schmelling, hung paralyzed on the ropes in the first round at the Yankee stadium while an angry Joe Louis measured him coolly for the knockout with that terrible right. We at the ringside could say definitely that the German would be unconscious in another second.

We can't gauge it that close with Hitler. The Allied high command still may hope to give us a Merry Christmas, but on the other hand Winston Churchill says it's difficult to believe the European war "can be ended before Christmas or even Easter."

Crushing The Fuehrer

Stalin points out that the main problem of the moment is to "crush Hitlerite Germany in the shortest possible time," and says the "key to victory" is "to continue holding Germany between two fronts." If we want to get technical we can say we are holding the Nazi dictator on four fronts—east, west, south, and that ever changing air front with its awful striking power.

The Fuehrer is in a hydraulic box which is closing to crush him. However, it takes pressure to move those sides inward and that pressure must be applied simultaneously in order to get quick results. That raises the question of (1) when the western Allies will be able to launch an offensive sufficiently strong to carry us across the Rhine, and (2) when the triumphant Red Army will be able to make an all-out drive against the Vistula line which is Hitler's last strong defense short of his own border.

Then we must consider that as Hitler pulls his armies back he shortens his fighting fronts and communications. Thus theoretically he increases the strength of his defenses, since his man-power and material will go further. And the Germans clearly indicate that they are going to be no push-over. Of course the Allies also will be shortening their own fronts as they close in, but they will be lengthening their communications. Their supply problems then multiply.

Budapest

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—Red Army troops battled strongly reinforced Nazi forces in the outskirts of Budapest today, spurred by Premier-Marshall Stalin's pronouncement that Hungary would soon be out of the war.

In an order of the day issued on this 27th anniversary of the Soviet revolution, Stalin declared the Red Army and its western Allies "have taken up the jumping off positions for the decisive offensive against the vital centers of Germany" and that "we now stand on the eve of complete victory."

Russian columns were fighting within two miles south of the big Nazi-operated Perlegh airdrome in Budapest's outskirts, apparently seeking to coil around the eastern part of the city.

In a proclamation preceding the order of the day, Stalin asserted that the defeat of Hungary would signify the "complete isolation of Hitlerite Germany, and early catastrophe will follow inevitably."

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 7 (AP)—American battle veterans, already four miles south of Carigara Bay, continued an unchecked advance today through Japanese mountain defenses on the twisting highway toward Ormoc and the finale of the Leyte Island campaign.

R. C. TO HELP SEND MESSAGES TO INTERNEES

Plans have been completed by the American Red Cross for the expedited delivery of special Red Cross messages to United States prisoners of war and U. S. civilian internees in the Philippines. Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the local chapter announced today.

The information was received Monday in a telegram from the national director of home service, Mrs. Kathryn N. Ellis, Arlington, Virginia, to the local office.

Mrs. Ellis said that one Red Cross message form, which may be obtained at the chapter offices on Baltimore street, may be accepted through November 13 from any person in the United States wishing to send it to relatives and friends now held as U. S. prisoners of war or U. S. civilian internees in the Philippines, but only when their address is known.

Subject To Censorship

The messages will be subject to regular Army overseas mail censorship, the national home service director said, but will not be limited to 25 words. They may be continued on the reverse side of the form, number 1616, and should be forwarded by air mail to the home service national headquarters at Arlington.

Mrs. Ellis cautioned that the Red Cross cannot guarantee delivery but every effort will be made to reach the addressees so they may establish contact with their families as soon as possible after the islands are liberated.

She said she hoped arrangements may be made for the addressee to reply directly to families and she urged that families should also continue to write to prisoners of war and civilian internees by regular mail, in addition to the special message.

None To Filipinos

The Red Cross can not accept messages for U. S. free civilians and Filipinos under this plan because of the special government channels to be used for the delivery of the messages, Mrs. Ellis stated.

She said that the Relief for Americans in the Philippines organization was sending a mimeographed letter to persons in this country whose names they have on file suggesting they call at local Red Cross chapters and complete form number 1616.

LEGIONNAIRES HOLD SERVICE

The annual American Legion memorial service of the John W. Ocker Post of Littlestown was held Sunday evening in St. Aloysius Catholic church, Littlestown. A fifteen-minute organ program preceded the service. A procession was played as the Legionnaires and the Auxiliary members entered the church.

Clarence Krichen carried the American flag and Herman Kaler the Legion colors which were placed in the sanctuary for the service. The papal flag and the parish service flag also occupied a place in the sanctuary.

The pastor, the Rev. John H. Weber, began the service with prayer including prayers for our country and for victory. "Come Holy Ghost" was sung by the choir and the sermon was delivered by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick P. McGee, a veteran of World War I, of McSherrystown, who used as his theme "The Spirit of Sacrifice." He opened his remarks by saying that "It is well to be here to show that we believe in God and to honor Him for past favors." Msgr. McGee stressed the necessity of keeping the ten commandments, of building a home and preserving family life, and the need of prayer in our daily lives.

Miss Marie Budde sang an "Agnus Dei" after which solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was celebrated. The benediction hymns "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo" were sung by the choir, the blessing was given and the divine praises recited by priest and people. Msgr. McGee was celebrant; Rev. Cletus Wagnan, also of McSherrystown, was deacon and Rev. Edward J. O'Flynn, of Hanover, former pastor at Littlestown, was sub-deacon. The closing hymn was "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

The Legionnaires left the church as the recessional was played. Miss Anna Weaver presided at the organ. The three altars of the church were decorated with autumn flowers and leaves and lighted candelabra. The church was filled to capacity for the service.

44 MILLION AMERICANS GO TO POLLS

AT A GLANCE

To be elected: A president, vice president, 35 senators, 432 U. S. representatives, 31 governors.

Total vote: Estimated by state officials at 44,000,000 plus, including 362,000 soldiers and sailors.

Polls: Open as early as 6 a. m., EWT, in the east, close as late as 11 p. m., EWT, in the west.

Weather: Varied, but not forecast as extreme in any general area.

(By The Associated Press)

The men and women who make up America took control today, deciding with peaceful ballots in a wartime election on their leadership for the next four years.

With victory and peace on their minds and in their hearts, they chose between two men who have both assured them they can do the job—Franklin D. Roosevelt, 62-year-old three termier in the White House, and Governor Thomas E. Dewey, 42, aspiring for a first term.

Republican Dewey and Democrat Roosevelt, in eleventh-hour messages to the country, agreed that no matter who wins the Presidency, it is supremely important to a Democracy at war to pile up a huge vote.

The campaign ended, with peace-and-victory calls from both sides. There was a quiet fade-out of the more extreme accusations that have been tossed back and forth in America's big show that comes every four years.

At the end, there was not even any continuance of the bitter political argument over the fact that the CIO Political Action committee has fought for the fourth term. Earlier this had brought Republican charges that the Democrats had sold out to the PAC, and Democratic contentions that the Republicans were demonstrating narrow prejudice.

The Republican Presidential candidate's wife and his mother, Mrs. George E. Dewey, from Owosso, Michigan, were with him for the important day Governor and Mrs. Dewey traveled from Albany to New York city, their legal residence, to get their votes in.

A trip in the other direction was Mrs. Roosevelt's lot, she having gone to New York last night to a party for Democratic staff members and volunteer workers.

For Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, their polling place was again the Town Hall in Hyde Park. Their daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger and grandson, Johnny, 5, were the only family members at the Roosevelt home.

Governor John W. Bricker, No. 2 man on the Republican slate, wound up his end of the campaign by saying at Columbus, Ohio, that it is "my considered judgment that Thomas E. Dewey will be elected."

He and Mrs. Bricker's young place is a school house near the Ohio Executive Mansion where they have lived for six years.

60 Percent Women
Senator Harry S. Truman, running for vice president with Mr. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Truman went to their home precinct in Independence, Missouri, to cast their votes.

A majority of today's voters may well be women—experts figure a feminine vote of up to 60 per cent of the total—and the sexes are so distributed that women voters may decide the issue in 32 states with 364 electoral votes.

Other experts calculate that more than 3,400,000 of the votes will come from the Army and Navy, stationed all over the world.

Service Vote Crucial
They figure that if the civilian vote divides about as it did in 1940, the service vote could swing the result either way in 16 states having 235 electoral votes.

This introduces a brand new note of uncertainty, for 11 states count their service vote anywhere from two days to a month after today. A really tight race in which these states, which include disputed Pennsylvania, could determine the final result, thus might be a long time in being settled.

The bulk of the new Congress that takes office next January likewise is being chosen today, and some of the best known figures in public life—and some lesser known who may serve in higher places in years to come—are offering themselves to the voters.

Hot Contests
Senators now in office who face tough opposition include Democratic Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, opposed by Republican James Park, and Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.), author of the National Labor Relations act, whose opponent is Republican Thomas J. Curran, an associate of Governor Dewey.

Barkley and Wagner are two of the heavy Democratic majority in the present Senate, which few Republicans believed could be overthrown to give the Republicans an upper hand there.

But in the House, the division is so even (214 Democrats and 212 Republicans) that the personalities of the 432 races were overshadowed by mathematical possibilities. The Republicans claimed in advance a net gain of as many as 60 seats.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—There's a football team in Pocatello, Idaho, that rates a cheer if they never win another game all season.

It's called the "Pocatello Marine Devils" and is composed of 20-odd Marines from a guard detachment and a few sailors from the Naval Ordnance plant with a coach, Corp. Ken Dolan, borrowed from an Army air base.

These few Marines comprise nearly half the detachment and every one is a combat veteran recuperating from wounds and diseases incurred overseas. They lost their first two games because there weren't enough reserves and the men weren't well enough to play a full game. Then they turned on the Great Falls, Mont., Air Base team and won though they were out-weighted 25 pounds per man.

Those guys must really like to play football.

What's this story that the Cardinals demanded meal money when they left the "home" dugout during the world series and became the "visiting" club? And, come to think of it, why not?

Boston's amateur hockey school drew 284 kids for the opening session. Gene Tunney is dropping out of the Baltimore pro football setup because he now thinks the war will last a lot longer than he believed before. . . . Sammy Angott, once considered too uninteresting a fighter for New York shows, is slated for a main event in the Garden Friday night when he meets Jimmy McDaniels.

CRYING TOWEL LAUNDRY
Comdr. Oscar Hagberg, Navy football coach, sobbing to the New York football writers yesterday. "If we keep improving, we may get up to Army's par."

SERVICE DEPT.
Lt. Col. Wallace Wade, Duke's former coach is General Patton's Artillery officer. No wonder the Germans are being so thoroughly blasted. . . . The Norfolk Naval Training Station's recreation department has engaged a duck blind for the use of both officers and enlisted men. . . .

Lieut. Horton Smith, the golfer, has been assigned to the new athletic branch of the Army special services division to help organize athletic projects for overseas theaters. . . . When the North Carolina Cloudbusters played the Jacksonville, Fla., Air Station footballers, Lt. "Baby" Bray dropped into the uniform shop to buy a suit of aviation greens. The shop manager hauled out size 44 but it was too tight; a 46 was no better so the biggest thing in the house, size 48, came off the shelf. Bray went back to Chapel Hill without the greens, and the manager remained with a new understanding of how big Chicago Bears grow.

The Democrats talked of adding at least 25 to their total. Name 31 Governors.

In various states, the ballots carried also referenda on such things as these: Shall Nebraska be tightly dry? Shall Arizona, Oregon and Washington impose gross income taxes to finance old age pensions of up to $60 monthly.

And in California, Arkansas, and Florida, a hotly fought-over issue is: Shall there be a state constitutional amendment to provide that no person can be denied employment because he is or is not a labor union member?

But the main state questions, of course, have to do with the governorships. Today 26 states are governed by Republicans, 22 by Democrats. Thirty-one governorships are up for election, 19 of them now held by Republicans and 12 by Democrats.

MILKWEED PODS BEING GATHERED

Richard C. Lighter, county vocational education adviser and chairman of the county milkweed collection, made an appeal today for all teachers in county schools to bring the bags of milkweed from their schools to the main collection depository.

All the milkweed pods should be taken to the collection centers by Wednesday, he said. After collection throughout the county, the pods will be brought by State Highway department trucks to the main collection center in Gettysburg. They will be shipped from Gettysburg by freight.

Lighter estimated that the total collection probably will reach between 1,500 and 2,000 bags of pods. He said that 2,000 bags were distributed to schools throughout the county and asked that all bags which have not been used in the collection be returned with the pods. The bags were furnished by the government, Lighter said, and must be returned to the Federal agency in charge of the nationwide campaign.

The collection agents in the county are: Arentsville Vocational school, Jack B. Clinch; Biglerville, Cecil Snyder; East Berlin, Marvin Webb; Gettysburg, Elmer Schriver; New Oxford, John Kratzert; Pottsville, Dr. Anson M. Hamm; Lutz, Prof. Paul E. King, and York Springs, John Stock.

She said the household would speed the evening listening to election returns and that she would "stay up as late as the President."

Village neighbors were expected to crop in during the evening, as they have in past years, to mingle with political associates and Washington friends in the so-called old family residence.

Missing from tonight's gathering will be the President's mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, who died in 1941. She had been with the President—usually the center of the family circle—every election night since first he ran for public office.

Temple Expects Strong State 11
Philadelphia, Nov. 7 (AP)—Penn State is stronger now than at any previous time this season despite the loss of Marine and Navy trainees, says Hal Williams, Temple backfield coach.

Williams told Temple Coach Ray Morrison that the Lions, next on the schedule for the Owls, "used an all-freshman eleven against Syracuse and I haven't seen a combination this year that performed so effectively."

State beat Syracuse 41-0 last Saturday, while Temple used the Orangemen 7-7 several weeks ago.

Scholarship In Printing Set Up
New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Mergenthaler Linotype company has presented Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, with a $20,000 gift endowing the Joseph T. Mackay scholarship in printing.

The gift was received by Tech's president, Dr. Robert Doherty, last night at a dinner honoring Mackay, president of the company, on the beginning of his 50th year with Mergenthaler.

Army Holds Top In Scribe Poll
New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Army increased its standing as the country's No. 1 collegiate football team in today's Associated Press poll while Notre Dame, the Cadet opponent for Saturday, slipped all the way to fifth following its 32 to 13 loss to Navy.

Ohio State's fearless civilians have taken up the task of pursuing Army in the opinion of the 106 football experts who voted.

Navy shot from sixth a week ago, to third this time, a move that kept Randolph Field in fourth place despite its 68 to 0 conquest of North Texas Aggies.

Landis Able To Cast His Vote
Chicago, Nov. 7 (AP)—Only by the consent of his physician was baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis to be permitted to leave St. Luke's hospital today to vote in the presidential election.

Landis, who this year missed his first world series since he was named commissioner in 1922, has been hospitalized for more than a month with a severe cold and for res. Landis, who is 77, has voted in every election since he reached his majority.

Mrs. Dewey Spends Day With Husband

Albany, Nov. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, a little tense looking, planned to spend the fourth election day she's gone through with her husband, by his side.

In their campaign headquarters at the Roosevelt Hotel, New York, she will help to keep the election score sheets straight.

She has seen her husband win as district attorney, lose the New York governor's race, then win it. And now that he is running for the highest office in the land she is facing the day with a single comment—a seasoned trooper's expression—she's "confident."

Mrs. Dewey planned to see her two sons, Thomas, Jr., 11 and John, 8, through an early breakfast today at the governor's mansion and then, en route with her husband for New York city, where they will vote.

FDR Will Get Returns At Home
Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt planned an early dinner for her family and later a scrambled egg snack as the traditional election night fare at the Roosevelt Hyde Park mansion.

She said the household would speed the evening listening to election returns and that she would "stay up as late as the President."

Village neighbors were expected to crop in during the evening, as they have in past years, to mingle with political associates and Washington friends in the so-called old family residence.

Washington street, north of Race Horse alley, one councilman said.

A dispute which arose in council earlier in the fall about the construction of a Tiber retaining wall near the throwing company plant was reported settled today after the sewer committee decided Monday evening upon a meeting on the site today. Lack of funds in the sewer department budget was said to have brought an agreement on postponement of the work until next year when an exhaustive survey of the stream's course is to be made.

Prairie Borough Workmen
Praising the work done by borough highway department workers, Mr. Wanebrenner invited councilmen to inspect town streets which he said are in good shape for the winter. Purchase of another truckload of oil by the highway department was authorized. The year's street improvement program is being completed on Stevens and Barlow and a section of Water street with surface treatment of oil scheduled for North Stratton and part of North Washington street.

Council directed that the hospital be billed for the $133 worth of driveway improvement work recently completed there. No charge is being made for the use of the borough roller on that job.

The sewer committee was authorized to buy a carload of sand for the cryhouse at the disposal plant when it becomes necessary. Councilman L. D. Sheeler reported a new aile and housing has been bought as repairs for the borough roller at a cost of $78. A notice is to be sent to the Western Maryland railroad company asking repair of the North Fourth street crossing.

Praise From State
A state police request for a parking space near their Carlisle street substation door has referred to the burgess.

State Health Department officials found the local sewage disposal plant in "very good" condition on a recent inspection, council was told by Burgess Pfeiffer.

The monthly report of Burgess Pfeiffer showed total collections of $655, including these items: Digging permits, $8; roller rental, $6; garage permits, $151; building permits, $6; fines, $2, and theater tax, $431.87.

Treasurer John H. Basenore presented his monthly report showing a balance of $34,906 but with many departments near their budget limits on expenditures for this year.

Chief receipt item was $1,457 in taxes from J. Herbert Weikert, collector. Basenore was directed to turn over the annual state check for foreign fire insurance tax from the borough to the fire company, an annual procedure.

President H. M. Oyer presided at the meeting with Councilmen L. D. Sheeler, Harry Trovett, Harry E.

When 99 per cent of the members of any of the groups have purchased pin money bonds on the close of the Sixth War Loan drive, the organization will qualify to receive one of the citations for patriotic service, Mrs. Peggy said.

She warned, however, that a woman may create the purchase of a bond to one organization only. If she is a member of several clubs, she may buy several bonds and report each one through a different affiliation. Women who are not affiliated with any organization or group should turn their pin money stickers in to the local Women's War Finance Committee.

Mrs. Peggy said that coupons and stickers may be obtained from the office at the YWCA and from a food booth in the lobby of the Hotel Gettysburg.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE!

DEWEY and BRICKER are experienced RACKET BUSTERS. They will give us a CLEAN DEAL by sweeping out the worn-out "New" Deal. We needed a change in 1940! We MUST have a change in 1944 or we may be SO BURIED under POLITICAL POWER that we may not regain our personal freedom for generations, if ever!

44 MILLION AMERICANS GO TO POLLS

AT A GLANCE

To be elected: A president, vice president, 35 senators, 432 U. S. representatives, 31 governors.

Total vote: Estimated by state officials at 44,000,000 plus, including 3,462,000 soldiers and sailors.

Polls: Open as early as 6 a. m., EWT, in the east, close as late as 11 p. m., EWT, in the west.

Weather: Varied, but not forecast as extreme in any general area.

(By The Associated Press)

The men and women who make up America took control today, deciding with peaceful ballots in a wartime election on their leadership for the next four years.

With victory and peace on their minds and in their hearts, they chose between two men who have both assured them they can do the job—Franklin D. Roosevelt, 62-year-old three termier in the White House, and Governor Thomas E. Dewey, 42, aspiring for a first term.

Republican Dewey and Democrat Roosevelt, in eleventh-hour messages to the country, agreed that no matter who wins the Presidency, it is supremely important to a Democracy at war to pile up a huge vote.

Peace and Victory

The campaign ended, with peace-and-victory calls from both sides. There was a quiet fade-out in the more extreme accusations that have been tossed back and forth in America's big show that comes every four years.

At the end, there was not even any continuance of the bitter political argument over the fact that the CIO Political Action committee has fought for the fourth term. Earlier this had brought Republican charges that the Democrats had sold out to the PAC, and Democratic contentions that the Republicans were demonstrating narrow prejudice.

The Republican Presidential candidate's wife and his mother, Mrs. George E. Dewey, from Owosso, Michigan, were with him for the important day. Governor and Mrs. Dewey traveled from Albany to New York city, their legal residence, to get their votes in.

Go Home to Vote

A trip in the other direction was Mrs. Roosevelt's lot, she having gone to New York last night to a party for Democratic staff members and volunteer workers.

For Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, their polling place was again the Town Hall in Hyde Park. Their daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger and grandson, Johnny, 5, were the only family members at the Roosevelt home.

Governor John W. Bricker, No. 2 man on the Republican slate, wound up his end of the campaign by saying at Columbus, Ohio, that it is "my considered judgment that Thomas E. Dewey will be elected."

He and Mrs. Bricker's voting place is a school house near the Ohio Executive Mansion where they have lived for six years.

60 Percent Women

Senator Harry S. Truman, running for vice president with Mr. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Truman went to their home precinct in Independence, Missouri, to cast their votes.

A majority of today's voters may well be women—experts figure a feminine vote of up to 60 per cent of the total—and the sexes are so distributed that women voters may decide the issue in 32 states with 364 electoral votes.

Other experts calculate that more than 3,400,000 of the votes will come from the Army and Navy, stationed all over the world.

Service Vote Crucial

They figure that if the civilian vote divides about as it did in 1940, the service vote could swing the result either way in 16 states having 235 electoral votes.

This introduces a brand new note of uncertainty, for 11 states count their service vote anywhere from two days to a month after today. A really tight race in which these states, which include disputed Pennsylvania, could determine the final result, thus might be a long time in being settled.

The bulk of the new Congress that takes office next January likewise is being chosen today, and some of the best known figures in public life—and some lesser known who may serve in higher places in years to come—are offering themselves to the voters.

Hot Contests

Senators now in office who face tough opposition include Democratic Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, opposed by Republican James Park, and Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.), author of the National Labor Relations act, whose opponent is Republican Thomas J. Curran, an associate of Governor Dewey.

Barkley and Wagner are two of the heavy Democratic majority in the present Senate, which few Republicans believed could be overturned to give the Republicans an upper hand there.

But in the House, the division is so even (214 Democrats and 212 Republicans) that the personalities of the 432 races were overshadowed by mathematical possibilities. The Republicans claimed in advance a net gain of as many as 60 seats.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—There's a football team in Pocatello, Idaho, that rates a cheer if they never win another game all season. . . . It's called the "Pocatello Marine Devils" and is composed of 20-odd Marines from a guard detachment and a few sailors from the Naval Ordnance plant with a coach, Corp. Ken Dolan, borrowed from an Army air base. . . . These few Marines comprise nearly half the detachment and every one is a combat veteran recuperating from wounds and diseases incurred overseas. . . . They lost their first two games because there weren't enough reserves and the men weren't well enough to play a full game. . . . Then they turned on the Great Falls, Mont., Air Base team and won though they were out-weighted 25 pounds per man. . . . Those guys must really like to play football.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Al De Santis, Schenectady, N. Y., Union Star: "Pete Cawthon, resigned Brooklyn Tigers' coach, is quoted as saying pro football lacks warmth. And all the while we thought General Manager Tom Gallery made things exceptionally hot for Pedro."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

The Army-Navy football broadcast has been sold for $25,000—which will about match the gate receipts. . . . Al (Special Delivery) Marsters, the old Dartmouth star, has given up his football officiating assignments because his business is taking him to the west coast. . . . What's this story that the Cardinals demanded meal money when they left the "home" dugout during the world series and became the "visiting" club? . . . And, come to think of it, why not? . . . Boston's amateur hockey school drew 24 kids for the opening session. . . . Gene Tunney is dropping out of the Baltimore pro football setup because he now thinks the war will last a lot longer than he believed before. . . . Sammy Angott, once considered too uninteresting a fighter for New York shows, is slated for his ninth main event in the Garden Friday night when he meets Jimmy McDaniels.

Richard C. Lighter, county vocational education adviser and chairman of the county milkweed collection, made an appeal today for all teachers in county schools to bring the bags of milkweed from their schools to the main collection depot.

All the milkweed pods should be taken to the collection centers by Wednesday, he said. After collection throughout the county, the pods will be brought by State Highway department trucks to the main collection center in Gettysburg. They will be shipped from Gettysburg by freight.

Lighter estimated that the total collection probably will reach between 1,500 and 2,000 bags of pods. Mrs. Dewey Spends Day With Husband

Albany, Nov. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, a little tense looking, planned to spend the fourth election day she's gone through with her husband, by his side.

In their campaign headquarters at the Roosevelt Hotel, New York, she will help to keep the election score sheets straight.

She has seen her husband win as district attorney, lose the New York governor's race, then win it. And now that he is running for the highest office in the land she is facing the day with a single comment—a seasoned trooper's expression—she's "confident."

Mrs. Dewey planned to see her two sons, Thomas, Jr., 11 and John 8, through an early breakfast today at the governor's mansion and then, en train with her husband for New York city, where they will vote.

FDR Will Get Returns At Home

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt expected an early dinner for her family and later a scrambled egg snack as the traditional election night fare at the Roosevelt Hyde Park mansion.

She said the household would spend the evening listening to election returns and that she would "stay up as late as the President."

Village neighbors were expected to drop in during the evening, as they have in past years, to mingle with political associates and Washington friends in the spacious old family residence.

Missing from tonight's gathering will be the President's mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, who died in 1941. She had been with the President—usually the center of the family circle—every election night since first he ran for public office.

The year's street improvement program is being completed on Stevens and Barlow and a section of Water street with surface treatment of oil scheduled for North Stratton and part of North Washington street.

Council directed that the hospital be billed for the $133 worth of driveway improvement work recently completed there. No charge is being made for the use of the borough roller on that job.

The sewer committee was authorized to buy a carload of sand for the dryhouse at the disposal plant when it becomes necessary. Councilman L. D. Shealer reported a new axle and housing has been bought as repairs for the borough roller at a cost of $78. A notice is to be sent to the Western Maryland railroad company asking repair of the North Fourth street crossing.

Praise From State

A state police request for a parking space near their Carlisle street substation door was referred to the burgess.

State Health Department officials found the local sewage disposal plant in "very good" condition on a recent inspection, council was told by Burgess Pfeffer.

The monthly report of Burgess Pfeffer showed total collections of $655, including these items: Digging permits, $8; roller rental, $6; garbage permits, $151; building permits, $6; fines, $2, and theater tax, $481.87.

Treasurer John H. Basehore presented his monthly report showing a balance of $34,966 but with many departments near their budget limits on expenditures for this year. Chief receipt item was $1,457 in taxes from J. Herbert Weikert, collector. Basehore was directed to turn over the annual state check for foreign fire insurance tax from the borough to the fire company, an annual procedure.

President H. M. Oyler presided at the meeting with Councilmen L. D. Shealer, Harry Troxell, Harry E.

When 90 per cent of the members of any of the groups have purchased pin money bonds by the close of the Sixth War Loan drive, the organization will qualify to receive one of the citations for patriotic service, Mrs. Pegg said.

She warned, however, that a woman may credit the purchase of a bond to one organization only. Women who are not affiliated with any organization or group should turn their pin money stickers in to the local Women's War Finance Committee.

44 MILLION AMERICANS GO TO POLLS

AT A GLANCE

To be elected: A president, vice president, 35 senators, 432 U. S. representatives, 31 governors.

Total vote: Estimated by state officials at 44,000,000 plus, including 3,462,000 soldiers and sailors.

Polls: Open as early as 6 a. m., EWT., in the east, close as late at 11 p. m., EWT., in the west.

Weather: Varied, but not forecast as extreme in any general area.

(By The Associated Press)

The men and women who make up America took control today, deciding with peaceful ballots in a wartime election on their leadership for the next four years.

With victory and peace on their minds and in their hearts, they chose between two men who have both assured them they can do the job—Franklin D. Roosevelt, 62-year-old three termier in the White House, and Governor Thomas E. Dewey, 42, aspiring for a first term.

Republican Dewey and Democrat Roosevelt, in eleven-hour messages to the country, agreed that no matter who wins the Presidency, it is supremely important to a Democracy at war to pile up a huge vote.

Peace and Victory

The campaign ended, with peace-and-victory calls from both sides. There was a quiet fade-out of the more extreme accusations that have been tossed back and forth in America's big show that comes every four years.

At the end, there was not even any continuance of the bitter political argument over the fact that the CIO Political Action Committee has fought for the fourth term. Earlier this had brought Republican charges that the Democrats had sold out to the PAC, and Democratic contentions that the Republicans were demonstrating narrow prejudice.

The Republican Presidential candidate's wife and his mother, Mrs. George E. Dewey, from Owosso, Michigan, were with him for the important day. Governor and Mrs. Dewey traveled from Albany to New York city, their legal residence, to get their votes in.

Go Home to Vote

A trip in the other direction was Mrs. Roosevelt's lot, she having gone to New York last night to a party for Democratic staff members and volunteer workers.

For Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, their polling place was again the Town Hall in Hyde Park. Their daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger and grandson, Johnny, 5, were the only family members at the Roosevelt home.

Governor John W. Bricker, No. 2 man on the Republican slate, wound up his end of the campaign by saying at Columbus, Ohio, that it is "my considered judgment that Thomas E. Dewey will be elected."

He and Mrs. Bricker's voting place is a school house near the Ohio Executive Mansion where they have lived for six years.

60 Percent Women

Senator Harry S. Truman, running for vice president with Mr. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Truman went to their home precinct in Independence, Missouri, to cast their votes.

A majority of today's voters may well be women—experts figure a feminine vote of up to 60 per cent of the total—and the sexes are so distributed that women voters may decide the issue in 32 states with 364 electoral votes.

Other experts calculate that more than 3,400,000 of the votes will come from the Army and Navy, stationed all over the world.

Service Vote Crucial

They figure that if the civilian vote divides about as it did in 1940, the service vote could swing the result either way in 16 states having 235 electoral votes.

This introduces a brand new note of uncertainty, for 11 states count their service vote anywhere from two days to a month after today. A really tight race in which these states, which include disputed Pennsylvania, could determine the final result, thus might be a long time in being settled.

The bulk of the new Congress that takes office next January likewise is being chosen today, and some of the best known figures in public life—and some lesser known who may serve in higher places in years to come—are offering themselves to the voters.

Hot Contests

Senators now in office who face tough opposition include Democratic Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, opposed by Republican James P. Barker, and Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.), author of the National Labor Relations act, whose opponent is Republican Thomas J. Curran, an associate of Governor Dewey.

Barkley and Wagner are two of the heavy Democratic majority in the present Senate, which few Republicans believed could be overthrown to give the Republicans an upper hand there.

But in the House, the division is so even (214 Democrats and 212 Republicans) that the personalities of the 432 races were overshadowed by mathematical possibilities. The Republicans claimed in advance a net gain of as many as 60 seats.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—There's a football team in Pocatello, Idaho, that rates a cheer if they never win another game all season.

It's called the "Pocatello Marine Devil-dogs" and is composed of 20-odd Marines from a guard detachment and a few sailors from the Naval Ordnance plant with a coach, Corp. Ken Dolan, borrowed from an Army air base.

These few Marines comprise nearly half the detachment and every one is a combat veteran recuperating from wounds and diseases incurred overseas. They lost their first two games because there weren't enough reserves and the men weren't well enough to play a full game. Then they turned on the Great Falls, Mont., Air Base team and won though they were out-weighted 25 pounds per man. Those guys must really like to play football.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Al De Santis, Schenectady, N. Y., Union Star: "Pete Cawthon, resigned Brooklyn Tigers' coach, is quoted as saying pro football lacks warmth. And all the while we thought General Manager Tom Gallery made things exceptionally hot for Pedro."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

The Army-Navy football broadcast has been sold for $25,000—which will about match the gate receipts. Al (Special Delivery) Marsters, the old Dartmouth star, has given up his football officiating assignments because his business is taking him to the west coast. What's this story that the Cardinals demanded meal money when they left the "home" dugout during the world series and became the "visiting" club? And, come to think of it, why not? Boston's amateur hockey school drew 284 kids for the opening session. Gene Tunney is dropping out of the Baltimore pro football setup because he now thinks the war will last a lot longer than he believed before. Sammy Angott, once considered too uninteresting a fighter for New York shows, is slated for his ninth main event in the Garden Friday night when he meets Jimmy McDaniels.

CRYING TOWEL LAUNDRY

Comdr. Oscar Hagberg, Navy football coach, sobbing to the New York football writers yesterday: "If we keep improving, we may get up to Army's par."

SERVICE DEPT.

Lt. Col. Wallace Wade, Duke's former coach is General Patton's Artillery officer. No wonder the Germans are being so thoroughly blasted. The Norfolk Naval Training Station's recreation department has engaged a duck blind for the use of both officers and enlisted men. Lieut. Horton Smith, the golfer, has been assigned to the new athletic branch of the Army special services division to help organize athletic projects for overseas theaters. When the North Carolina Cloudbusters played the Jacksonville, Fla., Air Station footballers, Lt. "Baby" Bray dropped into the uniform shop to buy a suit of aviation greens. The shop manager hauled out size 44 but it was too tight; a 46 was no better so the biggest thing in the house, size 48, came off the shelf. Bray went back to Chapel Hill without the greens, and the manager remained with a new understanding of how big Chicago Bears grow.

Name 31 Governors

In various states, the ballots carried also referenda on such things as these: Shall Nebraska be tightly dry? Shall Arizona, Oregon and Washington impose gross income taxes to finance old age pensions of up to $60 monthly. And in California, Arkansas, Florida, a hotly fought-over issue is: Shall there be a state constitutional amendment to provide that no person can be denied employment because he is or is not a labor union member? But the main state questions, of course, have to do with the governorships. Today 26 states are governed by Republicans, 22 by Democrats. Thirty-one governorships are up for election, 19 of them now held by Republicans and 12 by Democrats.

MILKWEED PODS BEING GATHERED

Richard C. Lighter, county vocational education adviser and chairman of the county milkweed collection, made an appeal today for all teachers in county schools to bring the bags of milkweed from their schools to the main collection depot.

All the milkweed pods should be taken to the collection centers by Wednesday, he said. After collection throughout the county, the pods will be brought by State Highway department trucks to the main collection center in Gettysburg. They will be shipped from Gettysburg by freight.

Lighter estimated that the total collection probably will reach between 1,500 and 2,000 bags of pods. He said that 2,000 bags were distributed to schools throughout the county and asked that all bags which have not been used in the collection be returned with the pods. The bags were furnished by the government, Lighter said, and must be returned to the Federal agency in charge of the nationwide campaign.

The collection agents in the county are: Arendtsville Vocational school, Jack B. Clinch; Biglerville, Cecil Snyder; East Berlin, Marvin Webb; Gettysburg, Elmer Schriver; New Oxford, John Kratzert; Fairfield, Dr. Anson M. Hamm; Littlestown, Prof. Paul E. King, and York Springs, John Stock.

Temple Expects Strong State 11

Philadelphia, Nov. 7 (AP)—Penn State is stronger now than at any previous time this season despite the loss of Marine and Navy trainees, says Hal Williams, Temple backfield coach.

Williams told Temple Coach Ray Morrison that the Lions, next on the schedule for the Owls, "used an all-freshman eleven against Syracuse and I haven't seen a combination this year that performed so effectively."

State beat Syracuse 41-0 last Saturday, while Temple tied the Orangemen 7-7 several weeks ago.

Scholarship In Printing Set Up

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Mergenthaler Linotype company has presented Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, with a $20,000 gift endowing the Joseph T. Mackay scholarship in printing.

The gift was received by Tech's president, Dr. Robert Doherty, last night at a dinner honoring Mackay, president of the company, on the beginning of his 50th year with Mergenthaler.

Army Holds Top In Scribe Poll

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—Army increased its standing as the country's No. 1 collegiate football team in today's Associated Press poll while Notre Dame, the Cadet opponent for Saturday, skidded all the way to fifth following its 32 to 13 loss to Navy.

Ohio State's beardless civilians have taken up the task of pursuing Army in the opinion of the 106 football experts who voted.

Navy shot from sixth a week ago to third this time, a move that kept Randolph Field in fourth place despite its 68 to 0 conquest of North Texas Aggies.

Landis Able To Cast His Vote

Chicago, Nov. 7 (AP)—Only by the consent of his physician was baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis to be permitted to leave St. Luke's hospital today to vote in the presidential election.

Landis, who this year missed his first world series since he was named commissioner in 1922, has been hospitalized for more than a month with a severe cold and for rest. Landis, who is 77, has voted in every election since he reached his majority.

ELECTION DAY

The polls are open! Once again
With God and conscience free
men stand
Alone where eyes may pry in vain,
And none may threaten or command.

This day for us with life was bought.
For all it means our fathers died;
And battles still are being fought;
'Gainst those who want this day
denied.

The polls are open! Brave men die
This day of days to guarantee;
And who dares pass his ballot by Fails all who fight to keep him
free.

Today's Talk
THE POWER OF THOUGHT

The highly educated man is not the one who has learned much, or who has so absorbed knowledge that he can distribute it, but he who has learned to think for himself, aided by this accumulation of learning and knowledge.

We learn and think that we may have convictions, but if we have not the courage to express these convictions, then we are poor indeed, and unworthy of this magnificent gift of mind on the part of our Creator.

Thoreau went to jail because of his convictions. And many, throughout the history of the world, have gone to the stake for them. They dared to think and to challenge the right to do so. Many of the world's great books were written in jail.

The power of thought is far greater than the power of money. The greatest gift within a democratic form of government is that it gives its citizens the right to think as they please. That is why there is so great prosperity within such states or nations. To the free thinkers of the world we owe a precious heritage. The tragedy is that so many such thinkers had to be unappreciated.

Wendell Phillips once said that "the biggest brains do not go to Congress." Many an American has been kept from being President of the United States because of too many convictions that he didn't believe in compromising. It was Henry Clay who made that phrase, "I would rather be right than President," famous down the years.

Thinkers are the heritage of the ages. Long after generals, politicians and millionaires are forgotten, they live. They live because they inspired others to think. To think for one's self is a sacred right. Even the tyrant, or dictator, cannot take that away. Expression may sometimes be throttled, but thinking—never!

We all have a right to think that we are right, whether we are or not. That's freedom. To dare to express what we think, radical though it may be, that's courage.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject "The Thrill of Truth."

British Battle
Robomb Attack

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—The sky over the English east coast was lit up during the night by a tremendous barrage of anti-aircraft fire and exploding rockets as the Germans during flying bombs in the North Sea for the third night in a row.

The four-page pamphlet contained photographs of war scenes and one of dead children said to have been killed by phosphorus in Hamburg.

WHEN BUDAPEST FALLS BALKANS WILL COLLAPSE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Red Army's furious assault on the Hungarian capital of Budapest represents the crisis in one of the war's major operations. The city's inevitable fall will speed Hitler's end.

This vastly important communications and industrial center, which straddles the broad Danube like a colossus, is the guardian of the Danubian Basin route into south-east Germany via Austria. Its capture will at once open the gate for advance up the valley and provide the Soviet forces with a magnificent base for operations against the Reich itself.

But Budapest to my mind means far more than that. It's only about 100 miles, as the airplane flies, from the Austrian border and 140 from Vienna itself—and many Austrians are only waiting for a chance to rise and throw off the Nazi yoke.

Precipitate Revolt.
Thus it strikes me as quite possible that the arrival of the Red Army as the Austrian frontier might precipitate a revolt against Hitler within that enslaved country. Once a rebellion started in Austria there would be no telling how far it might spread through unhappy Germany itself.

The proud and handsome city of Budapest, with its population of more than a million, has been one of Hitler's greatest assets. It is the hopper through which Hungary and much of the rest of the agriculturally rich Balkans have poured their grain and other supplies into a Reich which couldn't feed itself. It's the greatest railway center on that part of Europe, and also is one of the chief ports on the Danube Black Sea clear into Germany.

Great Milling Center.
Moreover Budapest is one of the world's great milling centers, and Hitler has depended heavily on its flour to feed his people—a mighty item in maintaining the morale of a nation. The city also has many war industries that have been a godsend to the Nazi dictator as his home factories have disappeared under the avalanche of Allied bombing.

The impending loss of Hungary will deprive Hitler of a satellite which, next to Italy, is the most important European ally he has had for it has been the key to his control of the Balkans. But while this will represent a great military victory for the United Nations, it undoubtedly will be a mixed blessing since it will saddle them with another bad political problem.

Hungarian Nazi.
There are a great many Hungarian Nazis. Thus, just as the Allies will have the great educational task of eradicating Nazism from Germany and Fascism from Italy, so will they have to eliminate the Hitlerian creed from Hungary.

I was in Hungary just after the Munich conference and even then Hitler had half a million staunch followers there. German Fifth Columnists were working more or less openly. The Hungarian Nazis were holding only thinly camouflaged parades in the start of the city, though I noted that their Hitlerian salutes were surreptitious in order not to invite trouble from the watchful police.

It wasn't long before they discarded all secrecy. They were heavily backed by German money and their numbers swelled, thereby making it easier for Hitler to assume control of their country. This doesn't mean, however, that the majority of Hungarians favor German domination, for they don't—as witness Regent Admiral Horthy's recent effort to take his country out of the war. He failed largely because German troops ruled the land.

Jap Pincers Are Closing On Kwangsi

Chungking, Nov. 7 (AP)—Japanese pincers closing upon the Kwangsi province defense center of Luchow now are only about 80 miles apart, the Chinese high command disclosed tonight.

Foreign observers arriving in Chungking from the combat zone said the enemy forces had all necessary weapons for modern war and that the Chinese units opposing them were poorly equipped and out-classed.

Below this active theater, Japanese troops pushing westward from Kweichow were about 20 miles from Pingyang. Capture of Pingyang would be a distinct step forward in the Japanese plan to establish an overland link with French Indo-China.

Polish Troops In Italy Make Gains

Rome, Nov. 7 (AP)—Polish troops of the Eighth Army have captured San Martino and Marsignano in the mountains southwest of Forlì, Allied headquarters announced today.

Several important hill features were seized.

SEE SOVIET AID AGAINST JAPS

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Marshal Stalin's frank discussion of Japan as an aggressive nation brought renewed speculation today that at the strategic moment the Soviet union will make available some of its resources to the Allies of the Pacific-Asiatic war.

This might range all the way from the use of bases to full participation. But that help will be forthcoming has long been assumed by informed persons here and Stalin's direct reference to the Pacific enemy was interpreted in that light.

In some respects Russia's position in north east Asia is even more vulnerable than Japan's. Her territories in the Maritime provinces and Kamchatka Peninsula apparently could be difficult to defend in event the Japanese were in position to react strongly.

The Russians are known to have kept substantial forces of troops in Siberia throughout the war. In turn they tied up at least comparable Japanese forces.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg.—The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's club recently was held at the Fireman's hall, Mrs. Harry Boyle presiding. There were ten members present. Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved as read, Mrs. Richard Zacharias opened with the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers," "America," and "Old Kentucky."

Mrs. George Eyster read the poems, "Jack Frost," and "The Vagabond Song," "A Leaf Treader," and "Beautiful World." Miss Louise Sebold, a peace chairman, gave a reading on "Peace Time of Men and the Land." In answering the roll call each member told something of interest and instructive about Bolivia. Mrs. George Eyster reported that material for curtains was not available, and Mrs. Ernest Shriver advised that the floors will be refinished in the near future, thus providing a more attractive room in the Fireman's hall for the club meetings. Cards from Mrs. Lewis Topper, and Mrs. Edwin Chrismer, thanking the club, were read. $10.50 was realized from the afternoon of games held at the Fireman's hall on October 12. The games will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Sunston, 133 West Main street, November 9.

The nomination of officers for the coming year will be held at the next regular meeting, November 24, and the nominating committee includes Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs. Richard Zacharias, Mrs. Charles Harner and Mrs. Oscar Sunston. The treasurer reported a $33.85 balance. The club donated $5 to the National War Fund. Mrs. Robert Topper demonstrated the value of home furnishing materials.

Mrs. Harry Boyle, phone 18, announces that the public is invited to witness the canning of chicken and other meats at the canning center at the high school building at 2 p. m., Thursday, November 16th.

Mrs. Jesse Hammerly, home demonstration agent for Frederick county, will be present, and it is the earnest desire of Mrs. Boyle that the people avail themselves of the opportunity to learn practicability of canning the various kinds of meats for use during the times of the year when meats become scarce and by necessity more expensive. The following number of cans were processed at the last three sessions: 75 quarts of sauerkraut, 25 quarts of sweet potatoes, 28 quarts of pears, 25 quarts of hominy and beans, and 291 pints of hominy. The next session will be from 1:30 p. m. to 7 p. m., on November 10, when hominy, pumpkins and sweet potatoes will be canned. Sauerkraut will also be made at this time. The last session will be held November 17. Those wishing to can meats are urged to call Mrs. Harry Boyle for an appointment.

BOMBERS HIT GERMANY AGAIN

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—Massed formations of Allied bombers headed toward Germany again today, indicating the record aerial assault on Hitler's fortress was being carried into the fourth consecutive day.

The RAF kept the clock-around offensive rolling last night by bombing Coblenz, British Lancasters and Halifaxes gouged three railroad yards in the Rhine city behind the U. S. First and Third Army fronts. RAF Mosquitos sang Gelsenkirchen, the Ruhr's fifth largest city.

Going out after 4,000 Allied planes dumped 8,000 tons on the Reich in daylight yesterday, RAF pilots were told they would fly through solid overcast to the Rhine but if they arrived over Coblenz at the right moment they would have ten minutes good visibility. The bombers hit the spot on the dot, saturated their targets and headed home before the German defenses could hit their stride.

The Mosquitos over Gelsenkirchen found huge fires still burning from the bombs dropped by 700 RAF heavies yesterday afternoon—the city's heaviest attack of the war. 'Intargetin

ELECTORAL VOTE SHOULD BE WATCHED

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—When the election returns start rolling in tonight—if you're trying to keep tabs—remember: It's the electoral vote in each state that counts.

Technically, when you vote you do not vote directly for President and Vice President but rather for the so-called Presidential electors chosen by a candidate's party in every state.

Each party has its own set of electors in each state. The electors of a party getting the greatest number of votes in a state vote later for their party's Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates.

They do this automatically although there is nothing in the law which says they have to. The electors of a party defeated in any state, of course, don't vote at all.

Electoral College Dec. 18

The electors always have to wait a while after election day before casting their votes. This year the victorious electors will meet in their state capitals December 18 and ballot for their party's candidates.

Those votes, in sealed envelopes, will be sent to Washington. They will be counted here January 6 in the presence of the new Congress by the President of the Senate.

You won't have to wait that long, of course, to know who wins today's election. You'll probably know tonight for sure. But if it's very close then the final results may not be known until all the soldier-sailor ballots are counted.

Each state chooses Presidential electors equal to the number of its members in the national House of Representatives, plus two Senators.

ELECTION DAY

The polls are open! Once again

With God and conscience free
men stand

Alone where eyes may pry in vain,
And none may threaten or command.

This day for us with life was bought.

For all it means our fathers died;
And battles still are being fought

'Gainst those who want this day
denied.

The polls are open! Brave men die
This day of days to gallant;

And who dares pass his ballot by Fails all who fight to keep him
free.

Today's Talk

THE POWER OF THOUGHT

The highly educated man is not the one who has learned much, or who has so absorbed knowledge that he can distribute it, but he who has learned to think for himself, aided by this accumulation of learning and knowledge.

We learn and think that we may have convictions, but if we have not the courage to express these convictions, then we are poor indeed, and unworthy of this magnificent gift of mind on the part of our Creator.

Thoreau went to jail because of his convictions. And many, throughout the history of the world, have gone to the stake for them. They dared to think and to challenge the right to do so. Many of the world's great books were written in jail.

The power of thought is far greater than the power of money. The greatest gift within a democratic form of government is that it gives its citizens the right to think as they please. That is why there is so great prosperity within such states or nations. To the free thinkers of the world we owe a precious heritage. The tragedy is that so many such thinkers had to die unappreciated.

Wendell Phillips once said that "the biggest brains do not go to Congress." Many an American has been kept from being President of the United States because of too many convictions that he didn't believe in compromising. It was Henry Clay who made that phrase,
"I would rather be right than President," famous down the years.

Thinkers are the heritage of the ages. Long after generals, politicians and millionaires are forgotten, they live. They live because they inspired others to think. To think for one's self is a sacred right. Even the tyrant, or dictator, cannot take that away. Expression may sometimes be throttled, but thinking—never!

We all have a right to think that we are right, whether we are or not. That's freedom. To dare to express what we think, radical though it may be, that's courage.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Thrill of Truth."

British Battle

Robomb Attack

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—The sky over the English east coast was lit up during the night by a tremendous barrage of anti-aircraft fire and exploding bombs as the Germans flung flying bombs in from the North Sea for the third night in a row.

With the loss of their channel robot roosts, the Germans have switched almost entirely now to launching the flying bombs from aircraft over the North Sea.

Leaflets fluttered down after a vivid flash had been seen in the sky. A metal container filled with some fell on a village.

The four-page pamphlets contained photographs of war scenes and one of dead children said to have been killed by phosphorus in Hamburg.

WHEN BUDAPEST
FALLS BALKANS WILL COLLAPSE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

The Red Army's furious assault on the Hungarian capital of Budapest represents the crisis in one of the war's major operations. The city's inevitable fall will speed Hitler's end.

This vastly important communications and industrial center, which straddles the broad Danube like a colossus, is the guardian of the Danubian Basin route into southeast Germany via Austria. Its capture will at once open the gate for advance up the valley and provide the Soviet forces with a magnificent base for operations against the Reich itself.

But Budapest to my mind means far more than that. It's only about 100 miles, as the airplane flies, from the Austrian border and 140 from Vienna itself—and many Austrians are only waiting for a chance to rise and throw off the Nazi yoke.

Precipitate Revolt

Thus it strikes me as quite possible that the arrival of the Red Army at the Austrian frontier might precipitate a revolt against Hitler within that enslaved country.
Once a rebellion started in Austria there would be no telling how far it might spread through unhappy Germany itself.

The proud and handsome city of Budapest, with its population of more than a million, has been one of Hitler's greatest assets. It is the hopper through which Hungary and much of the rest of the agriculturally rich Balkans have poured their grain and other supplies into a Reich which couldn't feed itself.

It's the greatest railway center on that part of Europe, and also is one of the chief ports on the Danube
Black Sea clear into Germany.

Moreover Budapest is one of the world's great milling centers, and Hitler has depended heavily on it's flour to feed his people—a mighty item in maintaining the morale of a nation. The city also has many war industries that have been a godsend to the Nazi dictator as his home factories have disappeared under the avalanche of Allied bombing.

The impending loss of Hungary will deprive Hitler of a satellite which, next to Italy, is the most important European ally he has had for it has been the key to his control of the Balkans. But while this will represent a great military victory for the United Nations, it undoubtedly will be a mixed blessing since it will saddle them with another bad political problem.

Hungarian Nazi

There are a great many Hungarian Nazis. Thus, just as the Allies will have the great educational task of eradicating Nazism from Germany and Fascism from Italy, so will they have to eliminate the Hitlerian creed from Hungary.

I was in Hungary just after the Munich conference and even then Hitler had half a million staunch followers there. German Fifth Columnists were working more or less openly. The Hungarian Nazis were holding only thinly camouflaged parades in the start of the city, though I noted that their Hitlerian salutes were surreptitious in order not to invite trouble from the watchful police.

It wasn't long before they discarded all secrecy. They were heavily backed by German money and their numbers swelled, thereby making it easier for Hitler to assume control of their country. This doesn't mean, however, that the majority of Hungarians favor German domination, for they don't—as witness Regent Admiral Horthy's recent effort to take his country out of the war. He failed largely because German troops ruled the land.

Jap Pincers Are Closing On Kwangsi

Chungking, Nov. 7 (AP)—Japanese pincers closing upon the Kwangsi province defense center of Luichow now are only about 80 miles apart, the Chinese high command disclosed tonight.

Foreign observers arriving in Chengking from the combat zone said the enemy forces had all necessary weapons for modern war and that the Chinese units opposing them were poorly equipped and outclassed.

Below this active theater, Japanese troops pushing westward from Kweichow were about 20 miles from Pinyang. Capture of Pinyang would be a distinct step forward in the Japanese plan to establish an overland link with French Indo-China.

Polish Troops In Italy Make Gains

Rome, Nov. 7 (AP)—Polish troops of the Eighth Army have captured San Martino and Marsig-nana in the mountains southwest of Forlì, Allied headquarters announced today.

Several important hill features were seized.

Elsewhere on the Italian front the main activity of both sides was patrolling.

ner in which our battle lines have been marked, with a view to establish a like system in marking the Antietam lines of battle.

SEE SOVIET AID AGAINST JAPS

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Marshal Stalin's frank discussion of Japan as an aggressive nation brought renewed speculation today that at the strategic moment the Soviet union will make available some of its resources to the Allies of the Pacific-Asiatic war.

This might range all the way from the use of bases to full participation.
But that help will be forthcoming has long been assumed by informed persons here and Stalin's direct reference to the Pacific enemy was interpreted in that light.

In some respects Russia's position in north east Asia is even more vulnerable than Japan's. Her territories in the Maritime provinces and Kamchatka Peninsula apparently could be difficult to defend in event the Japanese were in position to react strongly.

The Russians are known to have kept substantial forces of troops in Siberia throughout the war. In turn they tied up at least comparable Japanese forces.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg.—The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's club recently was held at the Fireman's hall, Mrs. Harry Boyle presiding.

There were ten members present.
Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved as read, Mrs. Richard Zacharias opened with the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers,"

"America," and "Old Kentucky."
Mrs. George Eyster read the poems, "Jack Frost," and "The Vagabond Song," "A Leaf Treader," and "Beautiful World." Miss Louise Se-bold, a peace chairman, gave a reading on "Peace Time of Men and the Land." In answering the roll call each member told something of interest and instructive about Bolivia. Mrs. George Eyster reported that material for curtains was not available, and Mrs. Ernest Shriver advised that the floors will be refinished in the near future, thus providing a more attractive room in the Fireman's hall for the club meetings. Cards from Mrs. Lewis Topper, and Mrs. Edwin Chrismer, thanking the club, were read. $10.50 was realized from the afternoon of games held at the Fireman's hall on October 12. The games will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Stinson, 133 West Main street, November 9.

The nomination of officers for the coming year will be held at the next regular meeting, November 24, and the nominating committee includes Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs.
Richard Zacharias, Mrs. Charles Harner and Mrs. Oscar Stinson. The treasurer reported a $33.85 balance.
The club donated $5 to the National War Fund. Mrs. Robert Topper demonstrated the value of home furnishings materials.

Mrs. Harry Boyle, phone 18, announced that the public is invited to witness the canning of chicken and other meats at the canning center at the high school building at 2 p. m., Thursday, November 16th.

Mrs. Jesse Hammerly, home demonstration agent for Frederick county, will be present, and it is the earnest desire of Mrs. Boyle that the people avail themselves of the opportunity to learn practicability of canning the various kinds of meats for use during the times of the year when meats become scarce and by necessity more expensive. The following number of cans were processed at the last three sessions:

75 quarts of sauerkraut, 25 quarts of sweet potatoes, 28 quarts of pears, 24 quarts of hominy and beans, and 291 pints of hominy. The next session will be from 1:30 p. m. to 7 p.

Bombers Hit
Germany Again

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—Massed formations of Allied bombers headed toward Germany again today, indicating the record aerial assault on Hitler's fortress was being carried into the fourth consecutive day.

The RAF kept the clock-around offensive rolling last night by bombing Coblenz. British Lancasters and Halifaxes doused three railroad yards in the Rhine city behind the U. S. First and Third Army fronts.
RAF Mosquitos stung Gelsenkirchen, the Ruhr's fifth largest city.

Going out after 4,000 Allied planes dumped 8,000 tons on the Reich in daylight yesterday, RAF pilots were told they would fly through solid overcast to the Rhine but if they arrived over Coblenz at the right moment they would have ten minutes good visibility. The bombers hit the spot on the dot, saturated their targets and headed home before the German defenses could hit their stride.

The Mosquitos over Gelsenkirchen found huge fires still burning from the bombs dropped by 700 RAF heavies yesterday afternoon — the city's heaviest attack of the war.

BE WATCHED

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—When the election returns start rolling in tonight—if you're trying to keep tab—remember: It's the electoral vote in each state that counts.

Technically, when you vote you do not vote directly for President and Vice President but rather for the so-called Presidential electors chosen by a candidate's party in every state.

Each party has its own set of electors in each state. The electors of a party getting the greatest number of votes in a state vote later for their party's Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates.

They do this automatically although there is nothing in the law which says they have to. The electors of a party defeated in any state, of course, don't vote at all.

Electoral College Dec. 18

The electors always have to wait a while after election day before casting their votes. This year the victorious electors will meet in their state capitals December 18 and ballot for their party's candidates.

Those votes, in sealed envelopes, will be sent to Washington. They will be counted here January 6 in the presence of the new Congress by the President of the Senate.

You won't have to wait that long,
of course, to know who wins today's election. You'll probably know tonight for sure. But if it's very close then the final results may not be known until all the soldier-sailor ballots are counted.

Each state chooses Presidential electors equal to the number of its members in the national House of Representatives, plus two Senators.

ELECTION DAY

The polls are open! Once again
With God and conscience free
men stand

Alone where eyes may pry in vain,
And none may threaten or command.

This day for us with life was bought.

For all it means our fathers died;
And battles still are being fought
'Gainst those who want this day
denied.

The polls are open! Brave men die
This day of days to guarantee;
And who dares pass his ballot by Fails all who fight to keep him
free.

Today's Talk

THE POWER OF THOUGHT

The highly educated man is not the one who has learned much, or who has so absorbed knowledge that he can distribute it, but he who has learned to think for himself, aided by this accumulation of learning and knowledge.

We learn and think that we may have convictions, but if we have not the courage to express these convictions, then we are poor indeed, and unworthy of this magnificent gift of mind on the part of our Creator.

Thoreau went to jail because of his convictions. And many, throughout the history of the world, have gone to the stake for them. They dared to think and to challenge the right to do so. Many of the world's great books were written in jail.

The power of thought is far greater than the power of money. The greatest gift within a democratic form of government is that it gives its citizens the right to think as they please. That is why there is so great prosperity within such states or nations. To the free thinkers of the world we owe a precious heritage. The tragedy is that so many such thinkers had to die unappreciated.

Wendell Phillips once said that "the biggest brains do not go to Congress." Many an American has been kept from being President of the United States because of too many convictions that he didn't believe in compromising. It was Henry Clay who made that phrase, "I would rather be right than President," famous down the years.

Thinkers are the heritage of the ages. Long after generals, politicians and millionaires are forgotten, they live. They live because they inspired others to think. To think for one's self is a sacred right. Even the tyrant, or dictator, cannot take that away. Expression may sometimes be throttled, but thinking—never!

We all have a right to think that we are right, whether we are or not. That's freedom. To dare to express what we think, radical though it may be, that's courage.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Thrill of Truth."

British Battle

Robomb Attack

London, Nov. 7 (AP)—The sky over the English east coast was lit up during the night by a tremendous barrage of anti-aircraft fire and exploding bombs as the Germans flung flying bombs in from the North Sea for the third night in a row.

With the loss of their channel robot roosts, the Germans have switched almost entirely now to launching the flying bombs from aircraft over the North Sea.

Leaflets fluttered down after a vivid flash had been seen in the sky. A metal container filled with some fell on a village.

The four-page pamphlets contained photographs of war scenes and one of dead children said to have been killed by phosphorus in Hamburg.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Red Army's furious assault on the Hungarian capital of Budapest represents the crisis in one of the war's major operations. The city's inevitable fall will speed Hitler's end.

This vastly important communications and industrial center, which straddles the broad Danube like a colossus, is the guardian of the Danubian Basin route into south-east Germany via Austria. Its capture will at once open the gate for advance up the valley and provide the Soviet forces with a magnificent base for operations against the Reich itself.

But Budapest to my mind means far more than that. It's only about 100 miles, as the airplane flies, from the Austrian border and 140 from Vienna itself—and many Austrians are only waiting for a chance to rise and throw off the Nazi yoke.

Precipitate Revolt

Thus it strikes me as quite possible that the arrival of the Red Army at the Austrian frontier might precipitate a revolt against Hitler within that enslaved country. Once a rebellion started in Austria there would be no telling how far it might spread through unhappy Germany itself.

The proud and handsome city of Budapest, with its population of more than a million, has been one of Hitler's greatest assets. It is the hopper through which Hungary and much of the rest of the agriculturally rich Balkans have poured their grain and other supplies into a Reich which couldn't feed itself. It's the greatest railway center on that part of Europe, and also is one of the chief ports on the Danube Black Sea clear into Germany.

Great Milling Center

Moreover Budapest is one of the world's great milling centers, and Hitler has depended heavily on it's flour to feed his people—a mighty item in maintaining the morale of a nation. The city also has many war industries that have been a godsend to the Nazi dictator as his home factories have disappeared under the avalanche of Allied bombing.

The impending loss of Hungary will deprive Hitler of a satellite which, next to Italy, is the most important European ally he has had for it has been the key to his control of the Balkans. But while this will represent a great military victory for the United Nations, it undoubtedly will be a mixed blessing since it will saddle them with another bad political problem.

Hungarian Nazi

There are a great many Hungarian Nazis. Thus, just as the Allies will have the great educational task of eradicating Nazism from Germany and Fascism from Italy, so will they have to eliminate the Hitlerian creed from Hungary.

I was in Hungary just after the Munich conference and even then Hitler had half a million staunch followers there. German Fifth Columnists were working more or less openly. The Hungarian Nazis were holding only thinly camouflaged parades in the start of the city, though I noted that their Hitlerian salutes were surreptitious in order not to invite trouble from the watchful police.

It wasn't long before they discarded all secrecy. They were heavily backed by German money and their numbers swelled, thereby making it easier for Hitler to assume control of their country. This doesn't mean, however, that the majority of Hungarians favor German domination, for they don't—as witness Regent Admiral Horthy's recent effort to take his country out of the war. He failed largely because German troops ruled the land.

Jap Pincers Are Closing On Kwangsi

Chungking, Nov. 7 (AP)—Japanese pincers closing upon the Kwangsi province defense center of Luichow now are only about 80 miles apart, the Chinese high command disclosed tonight.

Foreign observers arriving in Chungking from the combat zone said the enemy forces had all necessary weapons for modern war and that the Chinese units opposing them were poorly equipped and outclassed.

Below this active theater, Japanese troops pushing westward from Kweichow were about 20 miles from Pinyang. Capture of Pinyang would be a distinct step forward in the Japanese plan to establish an overland link with French Indo-China.

Polish Troops In Italy Make Gains

Rome, Nov. 7 (AP)—Polish troops of the Eighth Army have captured San Martino and Marsignano in the mountains southwest of Forlì, Allied headquarters announced today.

Several important hill features were seized.

Elsewhere on the Italian front the main activity of both sides was patrolling.

ner in which our battle lines have been marked, with a view to establish a like system in marking the Antietam lines of battle.

SEE SOVIET AID AGAINST JAPS

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Marshal Stalin's frank discussion of Japan as an aggressive nation brought renewed speculation today that at the strategic moment the Soviet union will make available some of its resources to the Allies of the Pacific-Asiatic war.

This might range all the way from the use of bases to full participation. But that help will be forthcoming has long been assumed by informed persons here and Stalin's direct reference to the Pacific enemy was interpreted in that light.

In some respects Russia's position in north east Asia is even more vulnerable than Japan's. Her territories in the Maritime provinces and Kamchatka Peninsula apparently could be difficult to defend in event the Japanese were in position to react strongly.

The Russians are known to have kept substantial forces of troops in Siberia throughout the war. In turn they tied up at least comparable Japanese forces.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg.—The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's club recently was held at the Fireman's hall, Mrs. Harry Boyle presiding. There were ten members present. Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved as read, Mrs. Richard Zacharias opened with the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers," "America," and "Old Kentucky."

Mrs. George Eyster read the poems, "Jack Frost," and "The Vagabond Song," "A Leaf Treader," and "Beautiful World." Miss Louise Sebold, a peace chairman, gave a reading on "Peace Time of Men and the Land." In answering the roll call each member told something of interest and instructive about Bolivia.

Mrs. George Eyster reported that material for curtains was not available, and Mrs. Ernest Shriver advised that the floors will be refinished in the near future, thus providing a more attractive room in the Fireman's hall for the club meetings.

Cards from Mrs. Lewis Topper, and Mrs. Edwin Chrismer, thanking the club, were read. $10.50 was realized from the afternoon of games held at the Fireman's hall on October 12. The games will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Stinson, 133 West Main street, November 9.

The nomination of officers for the coming year will be held at the next regular meeting, November 24, and the nominating committee includes Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs. Richard Zacharias, Mrs. Charles Harner and Mrs. Oscar Stinson. The treasurer reported a $33.85 balance. The club donated $5 to the National War Fund. Mrs. Robert Topper demonstrated the value of home furnishing materials.

Mrs. Harry Boyle, phone 18, announced that the public is invited to witness the canning of chicken and other meats at the canning center at the high school building at 2 p. m., Thursday, November 16th. Mrs. Jesse Hammerly, home demonstration agent for Frederick county, will be present, and it is the earnest desire of Mrs. Boyle that the people avail themselves of the opportunity to learn practicability of canning the various kinds of meats for use during the times of the year when meats become scarce and by necessity more expensive. The following number of cans were processed at the last three sessions:

75 quarts of sauerkraut, 25 quarts of sweet potatoes, 28 quarts of pears, 24 quarts of hominy and beans, and 291 pints of hominy. The next session will be from 1:30 p. m. to 7 p. m., on November 10, when hominy, pumpkins and sweet potatoes will be canned. Sauerkraut will also be made at this time. The last session will be held November 17. Those wishing to can meats are urged to call Mrs. Harry Boyle for an appointment.

Seeking Cause Of Five Erie Deaths

Erie, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—Bacteriological tests are now being made in Philadelphia, District Attorney Burton R. Laub reported, to determine whether food poisoning was to blame for the mysterious deaths of an Erie woman and her four children October 17.

Analyses of the stomach contents of two of the victims showed no trace of chemical poison, Laub said yesterday.

The victims were Mrs. Bertha M. Wolfe and her children, Daniel, 3, Emmet, 4, Murlin, 5, and Douglas, 18 months.

Amazing results shown in improving the Looks... boosting VITALITY!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach
2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Improper diet, overwork, undue worries, colds, the flu or other illness often impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red-blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 25 to 35% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. At such times Nature sends you a help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system, and undigested blood strength is a detriment to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood strength, SSS Tonic may be just what you need! SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to quize use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win
Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 16 and 20 cent sizes, 65¢, $1.00.

how much WHITE LIGHT

in a pound of BLACK COAL?

THE lamp has a 100-watt bulb in it and the lump of coal weighs one pound.

Pulverized and blown into the big boiler of a modern power-plant, a pound of coal* provides enough steam to generate one kilowatt-hour of electricity.

That much electricity, in turn, will light the lamp for ten hours—long enough to read this newspaper and a couple of novels. Or it will run a small radio for 25 hours, a food mixer for 13 hours, a washer for almost 7.

"So what?" you say. The point is this, 25 years ago, it took about three times as much coal to produce a kilowatt-hour of electricity as it does today!

The efficiency which gets several times as much white light from black coal has benefited YOU in many ways.

It has made your electric service better and cheaper year by year. It has met tremendous wartime demands for electric power, without delay, shortages or rationing. It has held the price of electricity at an all-time low, while other costs went up.

These results come from the sound business management of the nation's light and power companies—and from the hard work of men and women who know their business. The same companies are preparing for even greater accomplishments tomorrow.

*Some plants use less than 1 pound; some more, because of differences in coal and equipment. The nation-wide average is 1.3 pounds per kilowatt-hour.

URGENT CALL FOR SEAMEN

An urgent call for experienced seamen to man American supply ships bound for the war zones was issued by E. A. Crouse, manager of the Gettysburg office of the United States Employment Service, following a statement by Vice-Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the War Shipping Administration, and Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower commission, "on the serious threat to delivery of war material."

"Admiral Land's disclosure that efficient and safe operation of our vessels has been jeopardized by a manpower shortage should awaken every man who is or has been in the Merchant Marine to the seriousness of the emergency now facing us," Mr. Crouse declared.

Request Releases

"Employers are being asked to release immediately any workers who have had previous sea experience,

Rose Marie Wagner, Mrs. Rose Sanders; Regina Washington, Josephine Williams; Barbara Weishaar, Viola Weishaar; Earleen Thomas, Geraldine Groft.

Others who took part in the ceremony were Edgar Paul Hamilton, miter bearer; Richard Codori, cross bearer; Robert Cole and Richard Slade, candle bearers; Maurice Steinhour, incense bearer; James Nunemaker, cross bearer; and Theodore McKendrick, Joseph Hamilton, William Gallagher, Joseph Staub, Richard Codori and Douglas Knox, altar boys.

even those employed in war plants. The successful support of our Philippines invasion and our offensive against Germany demands the prompt transfer of such men to the sea lanes. Workers transferring to the Merchant Marine will be guaranteed the same re-employment and seniority rights which are accorded to members of the armed forces. The Selective Service system, recognizing the crucial importance of filling these jobs aboard ship, has instructed local draft boards to permit recruitment of experienced seamen regardless of age, as long as the prospective recruit has not received an order to report for induction."

Mr. Crouse urged all experienced seamen in this area to apply to the USES office, 200 Baltimore street, Gettysburg, for referral to vital sea duty. "Some inexperienced men can also be used," he said. Applicants should be between the ages of 16 and 17½ and 25 to 50%.

in a pound of BLACK COAL?

THE lamp has a 100-watt bulb in it and the lump of coal weighs one pound.

Pulverized and blown into the big boiler of a modern power-plant, a pound of coal* provides enough steam to generate one kilowatt-hour of electricity.

That much electricity, in turn, will light the lamp for ten hours—long enough to read this newspaper and a couple of novels. Or it will run a small radio for 25 hours, a food mixer for 13 hours, a washer for almost 7.

"So what?" you say. The point is this, 25 years ago, it took about three times as much coal to produce a kilowatt-hour of electricity as it does today!

The efficiency which gets several times as much white light from black coal has benefited YOU in many ways.

It has made your electric service better and cheaper year by year. It has met tremendous wartime demands for electric power, without delay, shortages or rationing. It has held the price of electricity at an all-time low, while other costs went up.

These results come from the sound business management of the nation's light and power companies—and from the hard work of men and women who know their business. The same companies are preparing for even greater accomplishments tomorrow.
